RAILWAY SHOPMEN OUT TO FIGHT WAGE REDUCTION; CLAIM IT WILL NOT LOWER THE GENERAL COSTS

OTTAWA, July 14.—(Canadian Press)—The committee of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, in session here now in conjunction with the general officers of the brotherhood, is making out plans to "combat any attempt to make sweat-shops of the railways and to put the employees on starvation wages," according to a statement issued this evening by A. R. Mosher, president of the brotherhood. Nearly every local branch of the brotherhood pledges itself unanimously to give unstinted support, and urges that the entire resources of the organization be used in fighting the reduction, Mr. Mosher states. The statement in full follows:

"After carefully considering the matter from every angle, I have come to the conclusion that the proposed wage reduction to the classes represented by our brotherhood is entirely unwarranted from the standpoint of living costs or otherwise.

"To unduly lower the standard of living and impose unnecessary hardships upon already low-paid railway workers cannot possibly be of any advantage to the public or assist in any way to improve the present economic situation in this country.

Misleading Statements

"A large percentage of the public has gained the impression, through misleading statements that have been circulated from time to time, that railway employes are generally high paid workers and can well afford substantial reductions and that by such reductions in wages business conditions generally will improve. I sincerely hope that instead of accepting deceptive statements the public generally will examine the facts of the case. Railway transportation is a matter of vital importance to the people, and they should, in my opinion, at once interest themselves in this issue of railway wage reductions before it reaches a point where great loss and inconvenience might result.

Economies Are Possible

"I am confident that every unprejudiced person who will examine the facts carefully will agree with us that economies can be put into practice and our national railways placed upon a basis that will not require huge sums from the public treasury each year, without placing unnecessary hardships on the shoulders of the low-paid railway workers.

"Modifications of working conditions were agreed to last month by our membership on the Canadian National railways, and the Grand Trunk railway, so that practically no overtime rates are now paid to these employes. It was these railway conditions, before they were modified, that the railway managements were finding so much fault with and which furnished most of the dust that opponents of decent conditions for railway men were attempting to throw in the eyes of the public.

Want No Sweat Shops

"Our committee, in session here at the present time, in conjunction with the general officers of the brotherhood, are mapping out plans to combat any attempt to make sweat shops of the railways and to put the employes on starvation wages. The membership throughout the whole dominion has been consulted and without exception the replies received condemn the proposed reduction as unfair and unwarranted. Practically every point heard from, and we have replies from nearly every local branch of the brotherhood, pledges itself unanimously to give unstinted support and urges that the entire resources of the organization be utilised in fighting the reductions, many suggesting that if the railway management will not listen to reason, drastic action should be taken.

Common Interest

"The public interest and the interest of the employes are in common. An injury to one will be an injury to the other. We, therefore, must consider both these factors in our deliberations, and whatever action may be taken will be the result of mature consideration.

"Our Grand Trunk negotiation committee will meet the management of that company on Monday, and our Canadian National committee will meet the management of that railway on Tuesday next for the purpose of discussing the whole matter. Upon the result of these conferences further action of the brotherhood will depend. It is hoped that amicable adjustment of the dispute will be the outcome of negotiations between the committees and the railways."

Anxious for Understanding

MONTREAL, July 14—In reply to the statement issued today by Division Number 4, railway employes department, to the effect that the railways by their action with regard to the proposed reductions in rates of pay for employes in the locomotive and car departments are deliberately incurring trouble with their employes the Canadian Railway association points to the correspondence published today in the press as indicating how resirous the railways have been to reach a mutually satisfactory understanding in the matter with the employe's representatives, and the extent to which they are prepared to go to bring about such a desirable conclusion.

The above mentioned correspondence included all the letters between the association and the committee representing the employes up to, and including July 13, upon which date the association's committee claimed was ommitted was only received by the association the following day, July 14.

Northern Alberta Farmers Must Have Stock as Well as Grain If They Would be Successful

To be successful, northern Alberta must devote its farming energies to stock as well as grain growing, in the opinion of Leslie Foster, assistant grading officer for the provincial government. He has just returned from a trip along the main line of the Canadian National lines east, and was impressed with the wasted opportunities that displayed themselves quite obviously. In the Wainwright district he paid particular attention to the problem of encouraging the increase of stock, and he stressed the necessity for improving their grade of dairy cattle. Many growers are complaining that they will not make more than an existence this year unless they are able to secure a phenomenal price for the green feed. They claim that their hay and grain returns will be negligable even if a fair figure is realized for their field grains.

Undoubtedly the crops in this and many other western areas will be below what was expected a couple of months ago, but with cattle on hand that could be held over the winter with grain that will not fetch a good market price, the situation could in many cases be reversed. Instances are quoted where the introduction of beef and pork have turned an annual loss into a substantial profit and according to government experts no where in the dominion would this be more applicable than in northern Alberta.

Assistance is Given

Mr. Foster pointed out that the dominion authorities are assisting the rancher by allowing summer range and hay cutting privileges on the most liberal terms. This offer should be taken of to a greater advantage than at present is the case; in numerous instances the farmer will not avail himself of these conse ssions but when the leases are let to men outside of the agricultural sect, an immediate protest is filed.

A dairy proposition, with adequate facilities for caring for the stock and its produce, will invariably pull a farmer out of the hole, providing he can dispose of the cream without too great a discount for express and grading. The express rates between Edmonton and all points within the 125 mile radius are favorable, and the shipper need not be concerned about deduction from the net profit on this score.

Hygiene is Essential

The second provision can be eliminated by each individual; plenty of light in the barns, dry floors and a comprehensive knowledge of hygiene will enable the careful dairymen to secure the highest grading possible. The improvement of a dairy barn to bring it up to approved specifications as issued by the department of agriculture is one of the best investments that can be made as it pays immediate dividends. There are many reasons for the increased return; a greater quantity of milk will be taken from the same herd owing to their increased comfort, in many cases a higher price will be paid for milk and cream of the same grading. The government will bear part of the cost of any cattle that are destroyed on account of bearing disease, if they are housed in approved buildings; and cattle are not so liable to contract disease if sufficient light is permitted to enter the barn. as sunlight destroys bacteria and other disease germs. Next important to approved housing, is complete sterilization of all utensils that are used in handling milk. Visible pollution can be partially strained out, but the germs borne on this matter remain in the product despite the most careful straining; it is the retention of microbes that lower the quality of milk and hence reduce the profits to the farmer.

Sterilized Appliances

Sterilization of appliances and cleanliness in the barns, creamery and separating room sometimes raise the price of butterfat three cents per pound and place the dairy on a status that could not otherwise be secured Shipping cans are thoroughly washed and scoured by the creameries before being returned to the shipper, but in his own interest the dairyman should mete out the same treatment to these cans as he gives to the pails and separator, as a letter of protest to the creamery complaining that their cans contaminated the contents, and lowered the grade, will not be of any use in boosting their cream checks.

Continued Outburst of Gun Fire In Dublin Cause of Excitement; Origin and Location Not Known

South of Ireland Is Still Scene of Pillage and Murder—Irregulars Are Reported as Robbing All Banks in Sligo

DUBLIN, July 14—A sensation was caused here this afternoon by a great burst of gunfire in the vicinity of Mount Joy prison, lasting nearly 90 minutes. The exact location or cause was not knwn, but it was rumored that it came from the interior of the prison. Large crowds collected and among the many theories suggested was that the firing was brought on by an attempt to overpower the guards.

A report was current here today that irregulars in Cork had seized the banks and all the money they could lay their hands on, amounting to 200,000 pounds, but the report could not be confirmed.

BELFAST July 14—Sharp, prolonged fighting is reported from the town of Sligo, which, according to reports received here, was captured Thursday by the irregulars from the Free Staters, who upon being reinforced, recaptured it today.

A train from Sligo to Enniskillen today carried two dead and nine wounded Free State troopers on the way to Dublin. Three of the wounded died during the ride. As the train passed Coolonev it was vigorously shelled by artillery.

Unconfirmed rumors reaching here from Enniskillen say that the irregulars driven the Free Staters out of of Ralley-Shannon.

DUBLIN, July 14—Five irregulars are believed to have been killed and Col. Mulcahy, brother to Richard Mulcahy, minister ofdefence, commanding the irregulars to be slightly wounded during a three-hour fight for a mansion called Cappard house, headquarters of the irregulars' headquarters staff were surrounded and captured by nationals.

Sean McEntie, Republican member of the dail, has been made prisoner by the Free Staters.

Chairman T. Ruane, of the Swinford County Mayo district council was shot dead on the street in Killimagh by irregulars today. H's brother, an officer in the Free State army, was seriously wounded.

MINE TRAIN STRUCK DYNAMITE TRAP

WHITESVILLE, W. Va., July 14—One miner was killed and ten others injured, four seriously, today when a mine train, carrying them to work near Mordue, ran into a dynamite trap and was destroyed.

Following an all-day search for a child who wandered into the bush near the village of Dunstable on Friday morning, both the R.C.M.P. and The Bulletin have been asked to obtain assistance from the city in a search for him. The lad is four years old, and from the telephone communication his name is understood to be Ladd. The whole countryside is making a search.

MOTOR ROUTE TO DUNSTABLE

St. Albert Trail through St. Albert, on to Morinville, through Alcomdale and Sion, and thence to Dunstable. At Dunstable there will be a man at the post office to point the way to the main point of search, three miles distance.

Acting in conjunction with the Mounted Police, The Bulletin extends a call to every automobile owner who may have a boy in the scout movement to take him to Dunstable, or else to the R. C. M. P. barracks, and have him there by 9 o'clock. At that time the Mounted Police truck will be ready to take them to Dunstable.

All day Friday was taken up with a search for the child, and in the afternoon an organized effort was made. Men on foot and on horseback scoured the country around, and in the evening others were called to the search which was kept up all night. At three o'clock this morning a telephone message said that more men were just leaving to continue the search.

Dunstable is 45 miles from Edmonton, by way of St. Albert, Morinville, Alcomdale and Sion. At the Alcomdale post office there will be a local guard stationed to direct drivers to the spot from whence the boy disappeared. Let's Go!

Nine Millions in Gold Britain's Accumulation in N. Y. for War Debt

NEW YORK, July 14—Great Britain's gold accumulation here, presumably to be used for part payment of the $125,000,000 interest on her war debt due to the United States next October, reached $9,500,000 today with the arrival of sixty eight cases of the metal on the Steamship Maurentania. Additional gold valued at $4,500,000, making $14,000,000 in all, is now on its way.

Fairly Good Harvest Likely in Saskatchewan, Says Statistics Branch

REGINA, July 14.—Crop conditions, fair to good, are reported in many sections today on the provincial crop returns received by officials of the statistics branch of the Saskatchewan department of agriculture. The reports come from nearly all quarters of the province. While some damage from hail, grasshopper and other causes are reported in some districts and weeds are reported to be flourishing in others, plenty of moisture in the various sections reported on indicate present conditions are reasonably satisfactory.

CANADA FIRE LOSSES

TORONTO, July 14—Fire losses in Canada during the week ending July 12 are estimated by the Monetary Times at $1,273,100 as compared with $781,700 the previous week.

Racing Automobiles Proved the Big Attraction at the Exhibition Friday; Haugdahl After New World Record

Automobile Day at the exhibition Friday added another bright spot to the week's series of events, the opening trials between the dirt-track speed kings proving a stellar attraction for thousands of townspeople and other thousands from towns and country in this section of the province.

Undoubtedly the big crowd was primarily on hand to see some half-mile oval records split into pieces, and, while no marks were tumbled during the afternoon, the spectators were well satisfied to see Sig Haugdahl roar off a mile in 1:01 3-5, or within one-fifth of a second of his own world figure of 1:01 2-5. Beyond a doubt Haugdahl in the Wisconsin Special would hae equalled his mark made in Lincoln, Nebraska, and in Calgary recently, had the weather conditions been more favorable—a high wind offering some obstacles to the auto speedsters during the afternoon.

Aside from the unpleasant wind, which played pranks with sightseers and midway tents at times, the day was admirable, the sun shining brightly but less venomously than on some of the other days of the week.

The Auto Parade

The Edmonton Automobile and Good Roads club deserve a share of the day's commendation Friday, their big parade and practical interest in the opening of the automobile end of the fair stimulating general curiosity in the exhibition and the motor races. The number of cars on the grounds must have exceeded even the huge array of citizen's day, gas vehicles of every description and almost every age covering the parking spaces in every direction.

Both in afternoon and evening programs the big grandstand was filled, the crowd overflowing into the bleachers during the progress of the auto races. Auto polo and the other attractions were supported at night by another exhibition try at the mile record by Sig Haugdahl, the big white car going round the course like a meteor and clipping off the first half in thirty seconds. Carburetor trouble, however, prevented the pace being maintained for the last half, the time being 1.02.

Will Lower Record

With an improved track and better weather conditions auto experts travelling with Haugdahl feel confident that he will lower the mile dirt track time Saturday afternoon, it being stated that the Edmonton racecourse is right at the top of the speediest half-mile tracks in existence.

Today, in addition to the auto races, platform attractions and auto polo, the midway will operate until late at night and most of the exhibits will still be in place for the half holiday crowds.

Nearly all the livestock was shipped away from the fair grounds Friday, the majority of the show stuff going to the Saskatoon fair which opens next week. The race horses left early Friday morning for the east.

Pathfinders Introduced

At the opening of the afternoon program Friday, following the parade of local automobiles round the racecourse, John Blue, secretary of the board of trade, introduced Messrs. Geo. Gordon and Chas. Neimeyer and Silverthorne, who made the trips through the northern route from Edmonton to Victoria by auto. Mr. Blue took the occasion to outline the benefit which northern Alberta would derive by the completion of the Jasper highway from Edmonton to the coast, referring to the fact that the southern portions of Alberta and British Columbia already had a highway almost all the way through the mountains, whereas from Edmonton through the Yellowhead pass was the first route traversed as a continental highway generations ago, and the one most feasible for a splendid motor road today.

FRIDAY'S RECORD AT FAIR

There was a total of 13,814 at the exhibition Friday, as compared with 12,309 on the same day last year, according to statistics compiled at the exhibition office after midnight Friday.

Gate receipts were $3,552, which, of course, does not include the apportionment from season tickets and other sources which are not in the daily totals and which are apportioned in the grand total.

At the grandstand there was $2,839.90 taken in, which constituted a record for the week. The receipts at the Old Mill were $282.00.

On Thursday Johnny J. Jones' midway took at $3,056.15, the exhibition's share being $942.75.

Sons of Pioneer Farmers Taking Prominent Places Among Prize Winners at the 1922 Exhibition

The educational value of the Edmonton Exhibition along the development and extension of a progressive agricultural industry is proven by the way the sons of the pioneer farmers of the Edmonton district are taking their place among the prize-winners, exhibitors and assistant exhibitors, especially in the live stock departments.

This is remarkably noticeable in the sheep and swine sections. It has almost reached onto the third generation. A few years ago one of the chief exhibitors in the swine department at the Edmonton exhibition was Joseph Rye; now in 1922 Mr. Rye was assistant, helping display the exhibits of his son, Lawrence Rye, whose son Lindsay has been a winner at stock shows with an exhibit which he asked his gradpa to help display to advantage.

The Sheppard Family

Rice Sheppard is still an exhibitor and his son Sidney was herdsman for the exhibit of William Gilbert of Sunny Brook Farm. Not only is Sidney taking all the agricultural education he can get by attendance at the fair, but he is an undergraduate at the agricultural department of the University of Alberta, where he is taking the course leading to the degree of B.S.A.

Joe Oliver of New Lunnon as a pioneer still maintains has interest in fairs. His son, Joseph Frank Oliver some years ago won prizes here and a silver trophy for his championship sow. Both father and son still attend the fair and profit by their attendance.

Leader With Swine

The story of John Pearse has often been told. His father helps him at the showing of the exhibits but

MANITOBA HAS NO WORD FROM HOUSE MEMBERS

Legislators Are Taking a Very Small Part in Election Contest

WINNIPEG, July 14—(Canadian Press.)—Members of parliament representing Manitoba are taking a very small part in the provincial election contest. Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the national Progressive party has made no speeches and no public statements. R. A. Hoey, M. P. for Springfield, is understood to have addressed a few rural meetings on behalf of the United Farmer candidates and E. J. McMurray, Liberal member for North Winnipeg is announced to appear with Premier Norris at a Liberal rally here tonight. Mr. Norris has made a lengthy tour of the province, and some of the Winnipeg Progressives have spoken in the country for their farmer colleagues, but generally the candidates and their local organizations have carried on their campaigns with little if any outside assistance.

Forty members of the last legislature are seeking re-election. Of these eight are running as Farmers, eleven as Liberals, six as Conservatives, nine as Labor and six as independents. At dissolution the standing of the old house was as follows, Liberals 21; Independent-Farmers 13; Labor 10; Conservatives 7; Independents 4.

If the vote shows two or more of the parties running closely it is possible that the result of the election will be known on election night. It is expected that not more than two of Winnipeg's ten members will be counted in on the first choices, which under proportional representation is all the progress that can be made for that evening. Eight uncertainties in Winnipeg, added to three deferred elections, may serve easily to complicate the situation unless the United Farmers secure, as they say they will, thirty members in the rural constituencies.

WILL APPEAL DECISION

Soldiers' Settlement Urged to Reconstruct Merville Settlement

VANCOUVER, July 14. — Appeal that the government employ the soldier settlers of Merville and pay them wages for the work of rebuilding their houses and barns destroyed in the recent fire, was laid before local officials of the soldiers' civil re-establishment and the soldiers' settlement board today. Capt. C. Carmichael, representing the Great War Veterans, and J. K. MacKenzie, a Merville settler, waited on the officials and pointed out that in addition to the destruction of 25 houses, many barns and 60 per cent. of the total livestock and crops were destroyed in the fire, leaving the settlers no source of revenue in the meantime. The settlers are being taken care of as refugees in the agricultural hall at Courtenay. Capt. Carmichael urges on the government the necessity for prompt and complete measures of relief for the fire sufferers, most of whom are anxious to get back to their land and make another effort to establish themselves.

Los Angeles Grand Jury Returns an Indictment Against Tucson Widow

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 14—The Los Angeles country grand jury today returned an indictment against Mrs. Clara Phillips, under arrest at Tucson, Ariz, for the murder of Mrs. Alberta Meadows, a widow of 20, here Wednesday. Mrs. Phillips is the wife of A. L. Phillips, an oil promoter. Mrs. Meadows was slain by blows from a hammer wielded by Mrs. Phillips according to the testimony of Mrs. Peggy Caffee, sole eye witness.

Later, its was said Mr. Phillips, on the advice of an attorney told his story to the sheriff. In his story, as the sheriff related it, the husband said his wife persuaded Mrs. Meadows to drive to where the body was found in the widow's auto, there he added, his wife asked Mrs. Meadows what were her relations with Phillips. A denial of anything improper followed. Then is was alleged the women fought and Mrs. Phillips struck Mrs. Meadows with a hammer which had been purchased that afternoon. According to the sheriff, Phillips said his wife had driven home in Mrs. Meadows car.

Marriage of a Chinese to White Girl Annulled

MONTREAL, July 14—The old question of the validity of the marriage of a Roman Catholic by a Protestant minister in this province came up again when Mr. Justice Coderre's judgment, annulling the marriage of Henry Fong, Chinese table waiter and Florinda Maillette, was filed in the prothonetary's office here this afternoon.

His lordship in a second judgment annulled the marriage of Charles E. Wesley alias Charles Wilson and Louise J. Perby.

Indians and Half Breed Hunters In the North Are Exterminating Muskrats by Illegal Methods

Trapper States That the Practise of Chopping Open Musk-Rat Houses and Allowing Inmates to Freeze, Will Deplete Fur Bearers Unless Stopped.

That the Indians and half-breed hunters in the north are seriously threatening the extinction of the muskrats by illegal trapping methods is the charge made by J. M. Street, trapper of Peace Point, who is a vistor to the city. The condition is a serious one, and it is a matter which should be investigated by the proper authorities at once," says the trapper, who further states that there is absolutely no necessity for the waste of fur occasioned by the methods used, and that by trapping, according to the methods allowed by law there is a good living for everyone, without going to extremes.

The Slaughter.

The scheme which Mr. Street objects to is as follows: When the freeze-up comes, the Indians and the half breeds proceed to the lakes and sloughs, where the muskrat houses are to be seen in thousands above the level of the frozen surface. First they cut off the top of several of the muskrat houses over which a number of the hunters stand guard with spears. The rest of the band then hammer on the other houses in the vicinity, the occupants of which, being alarmed, swim under the ice until they come to the houses which are peaceful; then they come up to breathe and are promptly speared. The houses having been depleted of their inhabitants, the roof may or may not be thrown on top again. Even supposing it is the extreme cold penetrates to the bottom of the muskrat's living quarters, and those which remain are speedily frozen to death, while the house is rendered untenable for the remainder of the winter.

Even amongst themselves the muskrats are prone to fighting, and if any should escape they must proceed to a neighboring house for shelter, where they are at once in the midst of a fight which will kill off quite a number before the matter of ownership is definitely settled. The half-breeds are the worst offenders in the exterminating of the rats in the manner mentioned, but Mr. Street is of the opinion that if one or two were made an example of that it would have a salutory effect on the remainder, as the natives have a considerable respect for the law, and are extremely anxious to avoid interviews with the Mounted Police.

Poor Skins.

Much shooting of muskrats is also done by the natives, says the visitor, and by this means a large number of poor pelts are put on the market, as a skin marked by bullet or spear wound brings only half the price paid for a whole one. Shot guns of .410 gauge are being largely sold by the traders for muskrat shooting and this practise, Mr. Street also condemns, as he states that it inflicts unnecessary suffering on the muskrats, many of them getting away from the hunters wounded, to be either killed by their companions or die a lingering death, while those pelts which are secured are not desired by the traders and their sale helps no one. If the shooting and spearing were penalized, so much the better for the muskrats and the trappers both, says Mr. Street.

The seasons brood all live together in one winter house, and from the litters of the original parents and their progeny a house will contain from 15 to 20 rats or more. In addition to the house proper where the animals live, they erect air vents at various locations, which are used only for the purpose of coming up for a breather and are not lived in, and the native hunters take advantage of this fact as before mentioned.

For winter food the swimmers store up lily roots, cat tail grass and willow twigs, these being placed in a certain chamber of the house which is reserved for the purpose. In general the theory that the muskrats can stay under the water or ice for a long period is scouted by the trapper; they must come up for air as is instanced by the air houses, but when hunted they keep under the ice as long as possible and obtain a certain amount of air close to the surface, but this becomes exhausted and they must go to the air houses or drown.

Enforce The Law.

Living under the water and in their houses it is comparatively warm for the muskrats, consequent on which their skins do not prime, while those which are caught in the open during the winter are always in first class condition. Though a water animal the muskrat is prone to migrating when water conditions in the home slough are not suitable and when on the hike he will go long distances in search of a desirable location. When travelling he is the prey of the ravens, owls and foxes, and under these circumstances has little chance of defending himself.

The trapping of the muskrats is the great standby of the northern trappers, says Mr. Street; at it a man can make a good living by trapping according to the law, and he is of the opinion that the rules and regulations laid down should be enforced on both natives ande whites alike for their own good, and for the benefit of the industry.

MORE RAIN IS BADLY NEEDED IN NORTH COUNTRY

Crop Reports Show Considerable Moisture Has Come But More Is Necessary

Crop reports along northern railway lines for the present week as compiled by the E.D. & B.C. railway are as follows:

Grande Prairie—Showers during past week have helped crops but more rain still needed.

Clairmont—About four hours rain received since last report. This benefited crops to some extent but still not sufficient moisture.

Sexsmith—The rain of last Saturday and the few showers during the week have greatly improved the crop outlook but moisture too late to do much good.

Spirit River—Weather past week warm and dry. Crops now suffering for want of moisture. Straw very short and prospects not very bright.

Berwyn—Several showers past week have helped crop some but need a good general rain throughout district badly.

Peace River—Weather past week continues dry and warm with slight indications of rain this morning. Crops very short and badly in need of moisture.

McLennan—Light showers during the week. Crops improving. Not suffering for want of moisture at present. Much now depends on weather from now on. Crops very late and uncertain.

High Prairie—Recent heavy rains have been of great benefit and crops are forging ahead. Another rain in few days would be appreciated. Weather today cool cloudy.

Enilda—Weather cool with number of rain showers. Crops improving.

Kinuso—Crops heading. Weather favorable. No shortage of moisture here.

Jarvie—Have had several showers this week. Grain condition improving slightly.

Westlock—Very heavy rain last night for short time will do much good. Crops looking well but short.

Morinville—Prospects at present are that about half a crop will be cut. A heavy rainfall during the next few days would improve the situation.

Bon Accord—One hours' rain July 8th. Oats heading out and very short. Barley will be two weeks later than last year. Oats and Wheat will be fair and barley apparently good. Good general rain still needed.

Lac La Biche—While there have been several local showers good general rain would improve crop conditions considerably. Grain short and now heading out.

MRS. SHAW SAYS IT IS HER DUTY TO TELL FACTS

Declares Her Experience with Tanlac Was So Wonderful She Wants Others to Know About It—Eats Anything Now and Feels Fine All the Time

"I shall always be grateful for what Tanlac did for me, and I think it is my duty to recommend it to others," said Mrs. Frank Shaw, of Jubilee, B.C.

"I had been ailing for six years and on two occasions completely broke down. I had little or no appetite and scarcely ate enough to keep a child alive. The little I did eat would sour, and gas on my stomach caused sharp pains across my back so I could hardly move, and very seldom got a good night's sleep.

"After taking six bottles of Tanlac I can honestly say that I haven't enjoyed such good health in years. I never have a sign of indigestion, headache or other pains, and I really feel like a different woman. Tanlac certainly is a wonderful medicine."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

MOTOR CHAOS ON THE MIDWAY AT EXHIBITION

Performers at the Motordrome Had Narrow Escape From Death in Bad Mix-up

Whirling around the almost perpendicular walls of the Motordrome on the Midway at the Exhibition on Thursday evening the three daring riders had a close call with death, when by accident the handle bars of two of the machines became entangled, and motor cycles, and their riders catapulted over and over to the bottom of the pit, where they lay in a huddled heap.

This occurred during the last performance of the day at about 11 p.m., but despite their close call the riders nerves are still to the good and they will continue to ride their roaring steeds, come what may. Only one of the riders came off scott free, this being Howard Bauer, who by some miraculous dispensation of Providence did not get so much as a scratch. His brother "Speedy" Bauer received two bad cuts above the eyes while plucky and pretty Hazel Russell had one of her legs injured.

Eye witnesses of the accident state that why the trio were not killed outright is a mystery but from what Ed. Salter of the Johnny Jones shows says they are very much alive, and despite their narrow escape will be on the job Friday afternoon as usual.

EGG MARKED "AGW" LAID BY KEYSTONE HEN

W. M. Hayes of Keystone north west of Pigeon lake possesses a hen which presumably recognizes the vast potentialities of the north, in that she has laid an egg bearing the letters of the northern pioneer railroad to the far north country.

On Friday, Mr. Hayes brought the egg in question to The Bulletin office, the letters "AGW" standing out in bold relief on the shell, while around the small end of the egg was a well defined circle. About a month ago the feathered one first exhibited signs of originality and produced an egg bearing the one letter "X" and also the ring at the small end, but now she has extended her repertoire and Mr. Hayes is wondering what will come next.

In the present instance the letters "AGW" stand out clearly; there is no mistaking them, while it is obvious that they are part of the shell construction itself, and could not have been "faked". This too is substantiated by the fact that the egg still contains its original contents and is unbroken.

This hen is a last year's pullett, being a mixture of Rhode Island Red and Leghorn, and in addition has the distinction of possessing eleven claws.

CANADIANS SAY ILL TREATED BY U.S. SOLDIERS

Trouble Arose Following Auto Accident on Buffalo Niagara Falls Highway

Buffalo, July 13—Mrs. Agnes Hutchison, whose guests from Canada are alleged to have been attacked by a party of soldiers from the 174th regiment at Fort Niagara following an automobile accident, said today that steps would be taken to bring the affair to the attention of Governor Millar.

Mrs. Robert A. Stafford, of Toronto who claims one of the soldiers struck her, will be asked to submit an affidavit to the United tSates consul at Toronto.

Toronto, July 13—Members of the Toronto party who were attacked by six privates and a sergeant of the 174th regiment of Buffalo a week ago Sunday, following collision on the highway between Buffalo and Niagara Falls, absolutely contradict the conclusion of Colonel W. R. Pooley that they were the aggressors or in any way to blame for the affair.

Interviewed today those of the party in Toronto say that they understood from the state police that a charge would be laid against the soldiers and some of the Torontonians gave their names so that they could be called as witnesses.

GOOD CROPS ALL OVER ONTARIO HELP BUSINESS

Factories Are Started After Having Been Idle for Many Months

Toronto, July 14. — (Canadian Press.)—Effect of good crops all over Ontario and reports from the west of the first general big crop since 1915 are having a marked effect in stimulating wholesale and jobbers trade in almost all departments. This is reflected in a tendency to start up factory wheels that have lain idle many months owing to accumulated stocks.

All this has the effect of reducing unemployment. In this city owing to the large number of men employed on reconstruction of the now municipally-owned street railway tracks and also to the very active building boom, unemployment is at its lowest in two years and response to the call from the west for thirty to fifty thousand harvesters should absorb the able-bodied balance.

The railways are already planning these harvest excursions, and it is noteworthy that the dates will be set ahead about a fortnight. Harvesting will be general in Manitoba the first week in August. That means there will be no danger of early frosts. This period falls about the third week in the month, but with the crop in such good shape throughout the west, no signs of black rust and the season well ahead of schedule, all promises are bright for a bountiful western harvest and a corresponding stimulation to eastern industries.

Lightning Strikes Gillespie Elevator At Picardville

A severe electrical storm passed over the country to the north of the city Thursday evening and at Picardville the Gillespie elevator was struck by lightning which totally destroyed the structure. The elevator was covered by insurance.

Toronto, July 14—Toronto's infant mortality for the first half of 1922 is lower than it has ever been in the history of the city. The rate for the six months is given as 80 per thousand registered births.

LOCAL SOLDIER DEAD NOW REST IN SECLUSION

Cross of Sacrifice Will Soon Be Erected to Immortalize These Men

Edmonton's soldier dead are now all in their final resting place at the Soldier's plot, Edmonton cemetery. Until two months ago no special plot had been allocated as a military cemetery, but the directors of the Edmonton cemetery company offered the authorities part of their holding, capable of receiving 552 single graves. This offer was accepted and Connelly and Armstrong removed the bodies from various cemeteries and re-interred them in the alloted place. This work is now finished, and the Cross of Sacrifice that is being constructed to the order of the Federal War Graves commission will adorn the centre of the plot, making an inspiring spectacle. Each grave will bear a stone at the head, on which will be inscribed the name, unit and date of death; no rank will be shown.

The cross, which is similar to all monuments erected by the Graves commission, is a stone structure standing 22 feet high, and is being built by the Alberta Granite and Marble company. It will be finished before the arrival of Governor-General Byng, and he will preside at the unveiling, which will be attended by suitable military pomp and ceremony. The present task has been limited to removing only those bodies whose relatives requested the transfer, and further work of this nature will be carried out as requests are made to Wilfred Baker, secretary of the Edmonton cemetery, or to the G.W.V.A. Each casket was covered with the Union Jack during the re-interment, and the work was performed with the utmost reverence. Following are the men that have been moved:

BLOWEY-HENRY'S VERY CHARMING SUITE OF ROOMS

Furniture for the Home of Taste Is Shown at Manufacturers' Hall

Beautiful furniture and hangings form the basis from which the very attractive exhibit of the Blowey-Henry Company at the Manufacturers' Hall is built up.

When tastefully arranged a display of furniture can always be depended upon to draw the crowd, and there is an individual appeal, an air of distinction, about the Blowey-Henry booth that makes it doubly interesting.

The firm has again followed out its tested and successful plan of arranging the goods into a suite of rooms, and this is a plan which cannot fail to bring out their best points.

In particular, a nine-piece walnut suite is seen to very great advantage in the dining-room, and there is no detraction to the desirability of this suite in the fact that it is priced at the very reasonable figure of $395.

A three-piece Chesterfield set is the most outstanding feature of the drawing-room, and the two chairs and lounge are splendidly made, and very charmingly covered in silk tapestry. In addition, there is a walnut writing-desk with chair, stools and other appointments all in harmony with the central pieces. The price of the Chesterfield set is $500.

The bedroom has a specially attractive appearance, with its solid panel bedstead of walnut and tasteful coverings. All the accompanying furniture is of mahogany, and the whole set is priced at $375.

The hangings and floor coverings in each room are selcted in order to tone with the furniture. Those in the bedroom must be specially mentioned, as the window and door hangings are of rose-pink in single color, and the floor rug is also in the one color of pink.

PETITION FROM SOUTH SIDERS IN ZORNES CASE

Technicality of Government Department Being Sued Is to Be Decided

A petition, already heavily signed by influental citizens of the South Side, has been in circulation for a week past, asking some consideration to John S. Zornes, who recently secured a judgment of $9,800 against the Provincial Telephone Department. This judgment in the Supreme court before Judge Walsh, was appealed by the Provincial Govt. and the judgement sustained by the Alberta Court of Appeal. For the reason that the Appeal Books were printed, and considerable expense incurred by the province, it was taken as understood that the case would be carried to the Supreme Court of Canada.

In the meantime the G.W.V.A. got busy on behalf of Hamilton who was with Zornes, and whose judgment for $1,185 was confirmed by the Court of Appeal and on his claim as a returned man, with several dependents a compromise on a monthly payment basis was arrived at.

It is pointed out in the Zornes case that there are more dependents in the Zornes family than in Hamilton's.

As only the technicality of whether a government department operating a public utility can be sued for a Tort of servants or employees. The petition refers to the treatment allowed in the Nat Bell case when same was carried to the Privy Council on a technicality.

As no serious question is raised regarding the amount allowed by Judge Walsh, providing the telephone department is liable at all, the petitioners ask that Zornes case be settled or at least he be treated as well as Hamilton. Just when the petition will be presented to the Provincial Cabinet is uncertain, as those in charge feel that anyone with knowledge of the affair or who is a friend of Zornes should be given a chance.

Expect Mine Workers to Refuse Harding's Project

WASHINGTON, July 14.—A practical certainty existed tonight that the United Mine Workers of America will refuse President Harding's offer of arbitration to settle the coal strikes, both bituminous and anthracite. Union officials left a final conference at the White House with President Harding and Secretary Davis, late today, determined, it was understood, to recommend a full refusal of the government's offer.

The only light cast upon the government's possible further course was a White House declaration today that President Harding felt no doubt he had power to operate the mines in an emergency. The president might run the risk of impeachment in taking such a course, it was indicated, but he was said not to fear such a possibility under existing conditions.

MANKIND

In men whom men deem ill,
I find so much of goodness still;
In men whom ...... pronounce divine,
I find so much of sin and blot,
I hesitate to draw the line
Between the two, where God is not.

EXTRAVAGANCE AND DISH WATER.

Why is it that washing dishes has come to be considered the very epitome of drudgery? Whenever woman's domestic routine is lamented, inevitably the list is headed with "eternal dish washing." Yet, to my knowledge, one poet and one magazine writer have lauded the washing of dishes as a means to finding the spirit of home, in one case, and to an actual spiritual experience, in the other.

Christopher Morley, in his "Chimneysmoke," declares in verse (in words which I wish I could remember exactly) that no man knows the real meaning of home until he has done the dishes with his wife; and a few years ago, following the publishing in the Atlantic Monthly of an article entitled "Twenty Minutes of Reality," a writer declared that she never felt so near the mystery of things as when clear, pure, hot water fell in a sparkling cataract into her dishpan—the marvel of it, the wonder of it.

For myself, I believe that washing dishes can be a real delight if one is extravagant enough. I believe in economy and thrift until it comes to hot dishwater and lots of soap. Then I fling economy to the winds, and indulge my extravagant soul in all the clean hot suds I want, even to dumping out the water five or six or seven times and filling up the pan with fresh water and more and yet more soap. Cleanest and hottest for the glass, of course, first of all; and perhaps that will do for the silver. Then out it goes and more comes in for the delicate china. By the time I get down to the vegetable dishes and platters I am ready for another panful, and when those are clean, I fill up with clean soapy water for the kitchen cutlery. Of course, the coffee pot has a supply of hot water and a dishmop all to itself.

But my real extravagance comes when I get to the pots and pans. In fact, in my house, they get cleaned first. I think to wind up with a load of kettles and pans after all the pretty dishes are washed, is more than the spirit can endure; so I tackle these first, with loads of clean hot water and swishes of soap, each having been scraped and wiped out with tissue paper before being washed. The dreary dishpan full of cooling greasy water with which many women finish up their dishes is enough to deserve the title of drudgery; but if the pan is kept always filled with clean hot suds, the drudgery simply doesn't exist.

Economic Biologists Commence World War Against Insect Army

The great war of the world was described and pictured, and its increasing virulence foretold by Mr. Lefroy at the Royal Institution, London, in a lecture as grim as it was economically important, says the Daily Mail. The point was, that man is not as dominant as he thinks he is. The real dominance belongs to the insect.

The lecturer gave 14 examples, all more or less blood-curdling. His first instance, perhaps, most immediately concerns England, and, in England, Lancashire. This is the boll weevil, which attacks the cotton plant. No kind or sort of preventive has been found after 20 years' work, and its ravages are now of such dimensions that cotton-growing is being given up wholesale in the United States.

Probable Cotton Famine

A famous American man of science has prophesied that in five years there will be next to no cotton at all grown in America, and the world will be 7,000,000 bales short. The ravage of this insect alone has made it compulsory on us to grow great areas of cotton within the empire if the Lancashire trade is to be kept alive.

Baby Eating Ants

Nor is the cotton weevil the worst insect. Man's most threatening enemy in the world appears to be the Argentine ant. It reached England in 1918 and has spread half over the world, especially Spain, since 1897. This minute insect has eaten babies in their cradles in the Argentine, has completely wiped out the birds of Madeira by eating their nestlings, and is ruining both the orange and coffee harvests in many places.

It often kills the plants, not directly, but by encouraging other insects, especially the green fly, which it keeps as man keeps cows. It even builds houses for them, acts as doctor to them, and defends them from enemies. At the same time, the ant, which is omnivorous, carries and spreads many of the worst human diseases. It may, perhaps, find a congenial home in London.

Flies Carry Plague

Mr. Lefroy said many startling things. The flea has caused 7,000,000 deaths in India by carrying plague.

The housefly kills 1,000 children a year in England by imparting infant diarrhoea; and flies are as numerous as they were 500 years ago. They carry typhoid, enteric, cholera and dysentery.

Our system of sanitation in Mesopotamia was ideally designed for breeding flies.

Mite Causes "Nerves."

A number of women are on the verge of nervous breakdown because of the prevalence of that almost invisible house mite which recently turned a man out of the house in Cardiff.

The beetle that destroyed the oak roof of Westminster Hall is at work in St. Paul's and very many churches and old buildings.

The louse is the cause of typhus in Russia, and will wipe nations out if conditions prevent cleanliness.

In spite of such horrors, Mr. Lefroy said he was an optimist. Intellectual man should win against blind insects. They were working for millions of years before man arrived and it is only ten years ago that our board of agriculture appointed its first economic biologist.

Father: You see, every time you are a bad boy papa gets a grey hair.

Boy (after a moment's reflection): Oh, but you must have been a very bad boy. Look at grandpa!"

Walter Hagen Leads Field In First Round Of Golf Tournament

Glencoe, Ills., July 14—Walter Hagen topped the field in the first round of the national open golf championship at Skokie today by scoring 68, two under par. He was out in 34 and with birdie threes on the 14th and 15th, managed to return in the same figures. His playing partner, Bobby Jones, of Atlanta, took 39 to get out and came home in one under par for a 74.

Police Court

An absolute case of mistaken identity was the verdict returned by Magistrate McLeod in the city police court Friday morning in the case of Frank Vandershack who was charged with the theft of a Ford car at the exhibition grounds a few days ago and as a consequence the accused was discharged from custody and permitted to go on his way to Saskatoon with the running horses he has had in his care here during the fair.

Evidence in the case disclosed the fact that there was a crap game around the barns and a lot of drinking resulting in a fight, the owner of the car alleging that he got the worst of the deal and was violently thrown out by the two men who made away with his Ford coupe, ran it into one the Johnny Jones wagons greatly damaging it.

Three men from the barns were positive that the accused man had not been connected with the game, the fight nor the theft of the car as he was in their company at the time the car was alleged to have been stolen.

The complainant in the case picked accused out at the man whom he thought was responsible for the theft. But the accused had a bald head and the men was supposed to have red hair and to answer to the name "Red" in the crap game.

George Massie acted for the accused in the case.

Henry Lemp was convicted under the provisions of the railways act on the charge of trespassing on the station of the C.N.R. for the purpose of soliciting business as a taxi driver. He was fined $10 and the costs of the court.

James Chabb was convicted on the charge of crueltyto a horse and was fined $5 and the costs of the court.

Several men were convicted under the provisions of the city bylaw governing the keeping of out houses in proper repair and were assessed the costs of the court.

A number of cases on the large docket of business, including several liquor cases had to be adjourned till next week.

Magistrate Emily Murphy in the women's court estreated the bail money of two women who failed to appear in answer to intoxication charges preferred against them.

IMPORTATION OF BEES FROM EUROPE PROHIBITED

Ottawa, July 14—Bees may no longer be imported from Europe. This is the effect of an order which has been issued by the minister of agriculture and it applies to all raw hive products excepting honey and wax. The reason for the restriction is the danger of introducing a contagious disease known as "Isle of Wight" disease. This malady is said to quickly exterminate a colony.

ODDITIES IN THE NEWS

A taxicab engine caught fire in London, Eng., but the driver did not know how to use the fire-extinguisher, with the result that three fire escapes, four engines, and a detachment of the Salvage Corps appeared on the scene. One fireman, with the taxicab's own extinguisher, put the fire out.

Three pennies, three halfpennies, a spoon and fork, one screw, one darning needle, four hairpins, three pins, four needles, one button, one pen nib, and a boot tip. This is a list of articles swallowed by a woman who was operated upon, and recovered.

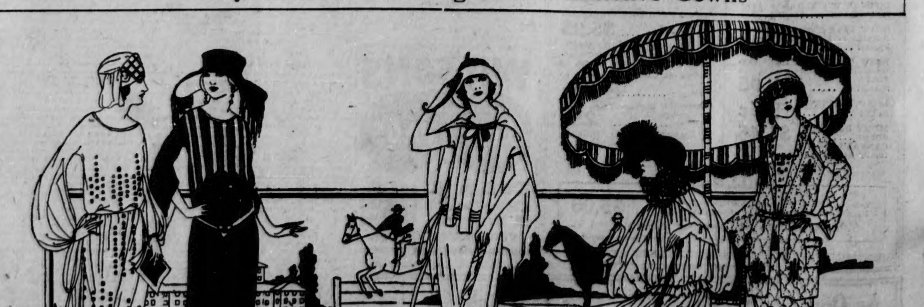
Country Clubs Are Settings For Distinctive Gowns



The first figure in the group wears a gown of white crepe Roma with jet beads forming its smart decoration. The hat of white Canton uses a corder cross-bar effect caught at the sides with large pearl ornaments.

Chinese blue inserts play an important part in the black crepe frock on the second figure. The slashed hem, reveals an underskirt of blue.

The center sports costume was fashioned of jade blue with bands of white Canton supplying a decided contrast note.

The seated figure typifies the cape influence. Pebble crepe Romaine combined with deep bands of matching caracul are the materials used. The blouse back effect is an extremely straight line when standing.

The end figure is one of the smartest and most unusual costumes seen. The white padded silk has black motifs in all-over treatment. The black lace veil falling in full folds from the white crepe hat carries out the color combination of the whole.

News of the District

WETASWIKIN

Bulletin News Service.

The citizens are preparing to give Their Excellencies, Baron and Lady Byng, a right royal welcome upon their visit here in September. At a meeting on Tuesday evening, committees were appointed to arrange the details in connection with the visit, and it is expected that the occasion will be made a memorable one.

At a meeting of the council of the municipality of Montgomery on Saturday, it was decided to place the rate of assessment this year at 3 mills for municipal purposes. A grant of 7½c a quarter section was made for hospital purposes, and a grant of $800 was made to the U.F. W.A. to assist in furnishing the maternity ward in the Wetaskiwin hospital.

A couple of week ago T. A. Waterstor noticed a strange pigeon around his buildings, and since that time the bird has been making itself very much at home there. On Tuesday he succeeded in catching it, and found a red rubber band on the left leg, and a silver band on the right leg with the following inscription: A.J. 21 E. 653. As this is a similar band to the one found in a hawk's nest by Mr. Robert Stanley, a couple of months ago, and whose owner was located in Edmonton, it is surmised that this bird also comes from the capital city.

The list of the successful pupils of Miss Florence Kelley, who wrote on the recent music examinations of the associated board for the season 1921-22, have just been announced. The Wetaskiwin pupils were: Primary pianofortes, Peggy Rubbra, Mrs. Anderson; lower division pianoforte, Jean Knowlan, Morgan French; higher division pianoforte, Abigail Bergen, Arlette Kadlec; intermediate pianoforte, Abigail Bergen; grammar of music, division 1, Gwen Williamson, Evelyn Johnson, Jean Knowlan, grammar of music, division 1, Arlette Kadlec, Eleanor Poole, Morgan French; rudiments of music, Mina Knowlan, Abigail Bergen, Nora Compton.

About thirty cottages are being erected on the shores of Pigeon Lake this summer. This is one of the finest summer resorts in Alberta, and it is only about twenty-five miles west of Wetaskiwin.

The people of Wetaskiwin and community were shocked on Wednesday to learn that John Huttson, of the Lewisville district, had taken his own life by hanging himself to the limb of a tree near his home. It is thought he took a dose of poison before committing the rash act. The cause of the act is not known, although he had not slept well for several nights previously. He was one of the very early settlers of the district, and was well known. He leaves a widow and family of four children, the oldest being aged fourteen years. Constable Allan went out to investigate the case and found that there was no question about it being a deliberate case of suicide. Therefore, an inquest will not be held.

On Wednesday morning, Andrew Kovars, of Millet, appeared before E. E. Chandler, police magistrate, on the charge of breaking and theft, and was remanded for trial on four charges. He admitted breaking into the home of Dave Morrison and B. D. Anderson and removing certain articles, many of which have since been recovered.

There passed away in the Wetaskiwin hospital on Sunday, Laura Gertrude, beloved wife of Eugene Cannon, at the age of thirty-two years and one month. Her passing away is particularly pathetic, as she contracted pneumonia while on a visit to her husband who was operated upon about five weeks ago in the hospital. After an illness of nine days she succumbed. Mr. Cannon was on a homestead in the Cold Lake district and came to Wetaskiwin to take a position with the firm erecting the creamery. After working two days he was taken ill and had to undergo an operation. Deceased was a native of Wisconsin, and had been a resident of Alberta for twelve years. She leaves a husband and three small children, who are now in Wetaskiwin, and a father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Kimball, in Wisconsin. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon, the service being held in the Presbyterian church, conducted by Rev. W. H. Irwin. The interment was in the Wetaskiwin cemtery.

Miss M. Chandler is at Seba Beach for the two vacation months, where she will act as secretary for the Y.W. C.A.

Mrs. C. I. Millar entertained on Friday evening at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Lenora Thomas, a popular bride-to-be of this month. The house was very artistically decorated with sweet peas and roses. Much charm was lent to the occasion when little Donna Kelley wheeled a doll carriage decorated with a kewpie bride and white tulle full of gifts, into the living room. The many beautiful presents showed the esteem in which the bride-to-be is held.

Carter, a son, in Wetaskiwin, on the 6th inst., to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rice a son; in Wetaskiwin on the 10th inst., to Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Kirstein, a son.

During the thunder storm on Saturday forenoon, a barn in the western part of the city was struck by lightning and a number of shingles were knocked off the roof. Little damage was done.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Garlough returned Monday evening after spending part of their honeymoon at Jasper Park.

The citizens of Wetaskiwin were quite surprised this week when Mr. A. S. Rosenroll and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Rosenroll and child arrived in the city, as it was understood they intended making their home in Chili, when they left here five months ago. They had a very pleasant voyage both ways, but Mr. Rosenroll states they did not find the conditions there as they expected, and as they are "one hundred years behind the times down there," they decided to return to the Wetaskiwin district, which he now thinks is one of the finest spots in the world. Their many old-time friends are glad to welcome their return to the city.

Among those who have procured new cars during the past few days are: Mr. Murray, of the City Bakery, a Studebaker; L. D. Montgomery, a Dodge; and Sam Murray, a Maxwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Zack arrived in the city on Monday direct from Spain, they will make their home with their son, M. Zack.

Millet trimmed the local boys on Tuesday evening in a game of baseball, the score being 8-6. It was a very close and exciting game.

Bulletin News Service:

The U.F.A. picnic held on Friday 7th was one of the best picnics held at Bon Accord for a long time the weather was very cloudy and threatening rain which apparently stopped a few peoplefrom coming, but over 300 people were in attendance. Various races and contests took place; a special 100 yard dash between Mr. Stack, Legal; Mr. Kelly, Gibbons and C. MacKenzie, Bon Accord, for a purse of silver resulted in a win for the Legal man by two yards the Gibbons man being second. Time 11 seconds.

The basketball game between Gibbons and Bon Accord was the chief item of the day and caused a great deal of excitement the Bon Accord were far too superior in all the stages of the game and won easily by 8 to 3, the playing of Mrs. Wittaker for the Bon Accord team was excellent.

The football match between Gibbons and Excelsior ended in a draw 0-0; Excelsior had the best of the play and should have won as the ball only crossed the half way line three times during the second half but the solid defence of the Gibbons backs could not be penetrated. The day was finished up with a dance in the Yeoman's hall, Boyle's orchestra furnishing the music.

The Anglican church will hold their annual picnic on August 3rd. If cricketbats and outfit can be loaned from Edmonton a cricket match will be played at Bon Accord that day.

FROG LAKE

Bulletin News Service:

Grain crops are making splendid progress now the warm sunny weather of the past week being just what was needed most. Wheat is out in head in many fields. Oats are coming on fast, though it is doubtful yet if the oat crop will ripen before frost. Gardens are coming on fast also.

The Laurier lake picninc held on July 8th was an enjoyable affair. The weather was ideal and a good crowd in attendance. There were several good row boats for hire and were in great demand.

Mr. Willis of Frow Lake and B. C. Edwards Moosewa were in charge of the sports and kept things on the move in fine style. The races were all good but the pie race caused shouts of laughter.

The bucking contest was also good. A large pavilion was erected and dancing was indulged in until midnight.

The next big sports to be held is the Stampede on July 17th, where $1,000 are to be given away in prizes. This is to be held at Lake Whitney.

Mrs. Hakes is back among us again. But we are sorry to report that she has been laid up owing to an operation on her foot having been performed while she was in Elk Point. We hope she will soon be better.

Messrs. Chrest, Blair and George, accompanied by Miss George of Kitscoty motored up to Frog Lake for the picnic.

C. Cormack, district superintendent engineer Dept. Public Works passed through here enroute for Lac La Biche, via St. Paul De Metis on Friday last and was duly impressed with the large amount of traffic on the roads around here. He promised some much needed repairs in the near future.

Miss Martha Newhouse happened with an accident last week which might have proved fatal, but fortunately did not. While assisting her brother, to drive a team of horses, they became entangled in the lines and attempted to bolt, dragging Miss Newhouse a considerable distance over the rough ground. The unfortunate girl was badly bruised and shaken up, but no bones were broken and her friends expect to see her out again soon.

Mr. Fred Bristoe had the misfortune to lose a valuable yearling colt recently. The cause of death not known.

The mail service has been changed this month. It now leaves Moosewa on Tuesdays and Friday going to Lea Park and returning Wednesday and Saturdays, thus giving a through service to Kitscoty.

A Column Devoted to the Interests of People of the African Race

Mrs. Rev. Geo. W. Slater, Jr., who is spending the summer at her home in Clinton, Iowa, writes that while her health is very good, yet she suffers much with the heat which seems to be very oppressive there now after living a year in Canada. She also says that crops and gardens look well, work of kinds seems to be plentiful, and the people on their way back to prosperity.

Little Lehman Poston was made very happy last Thursday afternoon when many of his little playmates as well as older people gathered at the home of his parents on his 6th birthday celebrating the same.

On account of a ruling of the umpire the game is contested by Shiloh which is now up before the executive committee for final decision. Shiloh beat Robertson last Thursday night 10 to 5.

GREAT LAKES CRUISE.

Travellers to eastern Canada will find the Great Lakes tour a delightful break in a comparatively long journey.

The freedom, the clean cool comfort, the fun on shipboard, the concerts, promenades and dances, the excellent meals, appeal to all who travel on the palatial steamers "Noronic," "Hamonic" and "Huronic" that sail from Port Arthur, Saturdays, Mondays and Wednesdays. You will enjoy the sail down beautiful St. Mary's river, the thrill of passing through the "Soo" locks, and a delightful and restful trip across lakes superior and Huron. The fare by lake and rail to Toronto and points east is exactly the same as by all-rail. The cost of meals and berth on steamer, however, is particularly low. Just $10.00 one way. Any Canadian National-Grand Trunk ticket agent will give you all particulars.

STEAMER NORONIC IS RELEASED WITHOUT DAMAGE

Sault Ste Marie, Mich., July 14—The steamer Noronic of the Northern Navigation company, which went ashore on Thursday at Birch Point during a heavy fog, was released early this morning by the tugs Illinois and Sabin and reached the Soo at eight o'clock. The Noronic apparently suffered no damage.

John is the leader in the swine department of his father's farm and he is getting his education in animal husbandry by attending the fairs and preparing his exhibits for the winning of prizes. At first he was entertained by the talk of other breeders, but now many an older man is entertained by what John has to tell about pigs.

W. A. Bell, son of the late J. J. Bell, of Horse Hills, used to help with his father's stock at the fairs and now still keeps up the family record with Poland Chinas with which he is winning success.

Herb Rowsell sons of G. H. Rowswell, of Poplar Lake and their father before them had attended the fairs at Edmonton since childhood and they all are making use of the educational opportunity with profit.

The Swifts, not the packers but the swine breeders, Steve and Ernie, are pioneers who have grown up with the country and got their first experience at fairs at the old Strathcona Agriculture society now merged into the Edmonton exhibition. They are still in the show each year. They got their first experience with hogs when at Clover Bar in the homestead days.

Ball Stock Farm

George R. Ball has more than one son and they are all making good at the fairs and live stock shows. While Mr. Ball was busy acting as director of the swine department, his son managed the exhibits from the Ball stock farm located at West Salisbury, eight miles to the southeast of the city. Bob's younger brother won several prizes at the fair last year. At the Ball farm there are 50 purebred ewes and 50 head of Yorkshire pigs. Now that the judging work is over both Bob and his father are busy negotiating sales of surplus stock.

Pluck Endurance

Another Clover Bar farmer and native born son of a pioneer who trailed the overland route from Winnipeg to Edmonton, not with an auto but in a Red River cart, is A. J. Ottewell, who has the family characteristic of plucky endurance. During this fair A. J. quietly endured and apparently enjoyed any argument by another breeder who advised him to get into a new breed of the new fangled bacon type. For years he has bred Hampshires and has a fine foundation herd established. But to meet the occasion he has been steadily developing the breed of his choice along bacon producing lines and to solve the thing for himself, he has allowed his son Wilbur to buy a foundation for the lad's herd with Tamworths. Now it will be a race between father and son as to which will win—the Hams or Tams.

When about 20 years old at the first provincial exhibition, A. J. Ottewell won two medals for live stock judging. He has never attended a school of agriculture or university but has supplemented his home and school knowledge with a few of the short course schools of agriculture which the department of agriculture used to operate. For years he has been attending the fair at Edmonton and closely watched the work of the judges to check his own judgment. When the fair was held on the flat near the present power house, he was a great help to his father in showing his live stock. In recent years he has been an exhibitor as well as a director for a few years. His son Wilbur is only 13 years old and has already been quite a help to his father not only at the farm but also at the fair. He has just passed into grade VIII and will without doubt get all the agricultural education he can not only get at fairs but at all the schools possible. His grandfather R. P. Ottewell in was in his turn an early exhibitor at the fairs where he lived here and in the east.

On the Job

While Billie Pritchard, son of S. C. Pritchard, enjoys displaying his father's stock to visitors at his father's farm near Ohaton, yet when his father does not need him to lead some cattle and if W. J. Hoover is busy exhibiting sheep or lambs, Billie is on the job learning the trade of a shepherd. Billie is only eight years old and Mr. Hoover is nearly six feet tall, yet Billie is very chummy not only with the big sheep and swine breeder but also with the lambs and rams of the Hoover flock. When Billie gets the management of his father's farm it is probable that he will have more sheep on it and with that end in view the lad is keeping an eye on the way the judge awards the prizes so that he will be able to buy good ones for the foundation of his herd.

Jim Davidson is only a lad but no helper more enjoyed his work at the fair than did Jim. He was always ready to help out another exhibitor when not busy assisting in the display of the exhibit of Archie Stewart with which he was officially connected. Jim made many friends during his visit to the Edmonton fair this year. He was even seen to converse with the judge in order to get some pointer as to how to tell the best qualities of a prize winning lamb.

Hired Man May Profit

That the hired man as well as the farmer or the farmer's son may profit by a study of livestock, is exemplified in the sample case of W. J. Elliott whose childhood was spent on an Ontario farm where there was not enough work for all the sons and W. J. worked out for five years as a hired man on a farm where there were many kinds of livestock. Being an observing lad ready to learn and willing to work he got a good start not only with the small wage which farmers paid their hired men in those days but in a practical knowledge of livestock and of stockfeeding. It has been a long jump from that to principal of an agricultural school in Alberta, to manager of the stockyards office at Calgary and judge of livestock at big exhibitions such as that at Edmonton this year. Yet when he worked those five years on a neighbor's farm in Ontario, W. J. just backed up to get the run of things so that he is making a mark for himself with a hop, step and jump in the various branches of the livestock trade.

All the young lads who assisted in showing their own or their father's stock are getting a valuable training for future positions on the management of the swine department of the fair.

The way the sons of the pioneer farmers of the Edmonton district are taking hold and holding their own in the show rings at the big fair here and at times elsewhere at other Western Canadian cities, shows the great educational value already accomplished in the years that are past.

When it is noted that the school fairs are preparing a host of such young people for future places at the big city fairs, the future of the fair is assured of success.

The sheep and swine exhibits as much as any at the fair tell a story of industry, energy and enterprise worthy of a place anywhere where city and country meet.

Father and Son

Ward Bailey of the firm of W. J. Bailey and sons is an example of how the father has taken the son into the business of swine breeding. Handling pigs, selecting stock, marketing surplus, sluffing culls, developing the production of a premium product to sell at a premium price and transforming a breed type to meet the varied and discriminating tastes of the consumer of the finished product is just as much a business as that of a pork packing son of the pioneer butcher who now manages a plant of his own and so is called a business man.

But perhaps it remains for Director John Kenwood of the sheep department to climax the chronicle of how the boy breeders win success as apprentices in the exhibiting of purebred stock. He helped his father when a boy of 12 years to exhibit Southdown sheep at fairs in England. Then when he left school at the age of 18 years he was sent to assist the breeder and study his livestock on the English farm of John Cleave a big breeder of purebred sheep and Devon cattle. After four years apprenticeship he fell in love with the breeder's daughter and won a wife along with an education.

Inclination to Occupation

Joe Rye, father of Lawrence Rye of Sunny Side Stock farm, with his grandson Lindsay, aged 9, who helped grandpa show Lawrence how to win prizes with Tams while Lawrence was himself busy driving his Clydes, and the great-grandfather the late Joseph Rye, Sr., of Suffolk, England, practically complete the century cycle of livestock breeders showing that there are families that have a type or inclination which lead into certain occupational lines.

Joe Rye, Sr., came from Suffolk to Ontario at the age of 21. He was 61 when he died and that was 45 years ago. He first located at London, Ont., and later homesteaded in Huron county in Goderich township. Joe Rye Jr., left Huron and homesteaded in the Parry Sound district and later in Alberta at Sunny Side about 15 miles N. E. of the city. Lawrence Rye still farms his father's homestead and his own. Just as back in Suffolk the head of the family used to take an active personal interest in exhibitions, so the great-grandson Lindsay has already been a winner at Edmonton's stock shows.

The first Canadian fair which Mr. Rye remembers being connected with was at Clinton Ont., when, as a boy of 12 years, he showed a colt and won first prize. The first Alberta show he remembers attending was at Edmonton 30 years ago. It was held near Fraser's lumber yard near corner of Jasper, one block northeast of the Bulletin. Before the fair this was moved to the Power House flat.

Student of Pork Markets

Mr. Rye (Joseph Rye Jr) was sent to Denmark and the British Isles some years ago by the dominion government to represent western Canada on a special Canadian commission to study the pork product market. He still claims that the Canadian product is seriously handicapped by the short haul of the Danish product which latter can be laid down in England in 24 hours, almost the same as fresh meat. While the curing needed for the long haul Canadian pork makes the greater use of salt essential and salt hardens the product, especially the lean of the bacon.

Once when on this commission in England, the commissioners were treated to a taste of each of the Irish, Danish and Canadian bacons and the Danish bacon was observed to be so mild that it almost melted in ones mouth.

The party also visited the Wiltshire factory but were not allowed in the factory or packing plant for fear that some of the trade secrets would be divulged to the Canadians. They observed however that the hogs raised and slaughtered in England were then no better than the Canadian hogs at home.

Another point he observed on that trip was that the success of the Danish product on the market was largely due to the spirit of cooperation which prevaded all, the producer, the shipper, (the railways being owned by the Danish government), and the packers who owned their own cars. What was more, there was one man in control of the marketing so that the market was not flooded, and a steady stream was kept up to suit the demands of the consumers and so assist in disposing of the product which was cured for the short haul from abbatoir to kitchen or cafe.

GENERAL REDUCTION FOR CIVIL SERVANTS.

London, July 14.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—A general reduction in the salaries of public servants in Queensland, Australia, has been made by the government of that state, including a five per cent. reduction in the remuneration of the members of the Queensland parliament, according to a Reuter despatch from Brisbane.

KEEP CHILDREN WELL DURING HOT WEATHER

Every mother knows how fatal the hot summer months are to small children. Cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dysentery, colic and stomach troubles are rife at this time and often a precious little life is lost after only a few hours' illness. The mother who keeps Baby's Own Tablets in the house feels safe. The occasional use of the Tablets prevents stomach and bowel troubles, or if the trouble comes suddenly—as it generally does—the Tablets will bring baby safely through. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BREEDERS OF SWINE DEMAND MORE SPACE AT NEXT EXHIBITION

The swine breeders at this year's Edmonton exhibition have unanimously signed a petition to the exhibition directors complaining of the inadequate and unsatisfactory accommodation for the swine this year. Some of the breeders were seriously handicapped in the placing of their exhibits in pens that were unfloored and poorly lighted and ventilated, thus mitigating against the general public so freely inspecting their department as much as its economic importance warrants. The swine show occupied five buildings, three sheds being needed to house the overflow from the regular swine sheds.

Some of the petitioners have gone further and suggested that the locked-up unused building formerly used for dogs be turned over to the swine department and refitted. Others urge the erection before another fair of a modern judging rotunda specially adapted for the judging of swine.

IMPROVED CROP CONDITIONS HELP TRADE VOLUME

Report of Canadian Creditmen's Trust Association Is Optimistic

WINNIPEG, July 14.—(Canadian Press) — Continued fine weather throughout the three prairie provinces and splendid crop conditions are having a good effect on trade in the West, says the weekly report of the Canadian Creditmen's Trust association, issued here today.

Advices from Montreal, Toronto, Brantford and Quebec say that wholesalers find business on a "steady up grade." Activity is apparent in groceries, dry goods, textiles, men's and ladies' ready-to-wear and leathers. Hardware and lumber is more active than of late. Retail trade in country towns shows a slight improvement over a month ago and, taken altogether, the pointing of the trade index can be considered satisfactory.

Winnipeg and Western wholesalers and manufacturers are gratified at the ideal crop weather over the West. Manitoba, with the exception of restricted areas, expects a good crop. Saskatchewan crop reports are very satisfactory with the exception of those from around Saskatoon and from there to the Alberta boundary. Alberta advices show splendid conditions, especially in the southern part, and on these reports indications point to improved orders and collections during the coming fall.

RIGHT FINISH INSIDE WOODS IS NECESSARY

Careful Workmanship and Proper Finish Vital to the Beauty of the Home

House builders may have a good architect and a good general contractor, but unless they have a good painter and decorator the carefully-laid plans of the rest of the workers will come to naught.

Save the surface and you save all tells the story. Wood, whether on the inside or the outside of the house, must be properly finished if it is to be preserved and its beauty brought out.

For outside work, white lead and linseed oil, with such colorings as is desired, is the proper material to use. For roof surfaces, where wood shingles are used, they should be dipped in creosote or linseed oil before being laid.

In the downstairs rooms of houses, such as the living-room, dining-room, halls, etc., oak is generally the wood used the most. The popular finish for oak now is produced with fillers of soft browns. Where oak finish is used, the floors should be of the same material.

These should be finished a shade lighter than the other woodwork. Birch is another wood used in these sections of the home. This wood finishes beautifully in the natural, but also may be finished either in mahogany or walnut with good effect.

For the upstairs rooms a light-colored wood in natural finish is proper, or where enamel effects are desired birch or basswood give the best results, as they are close grained and free from pitch. Ivory white rubbed to a soft satin finish produces a better effect than the pure white where enamelled surfaces are desired.

Maple or birch floors finished natural produce the best effect in upstairs rooms and are most generally used. Either birch or gum wood properly finished will produce the same effect.

Proper Finish is Vital

There is nothing which adds so much to the beauty of a home as good woodwork properly finished. This is something which many people overlook in planning their homes. They get the good woodwork, but it is often spoiled through improper finishing.

The grains of the various kinds of wood used in the interior trim of houses, when properly brought out by experienced workmen, are really things of beauty and add to the attractiveness of a home more than anything else.

Home builders should remember that woodwork when once filled and finished is a permanent fixture. The walls may be redecorated from time to time, but it is difficult to change the woodwork.

Speaking of the decoration of the walls and ceilings of homes, the best effects are had from soft tones with a few plain lines if desired. The great thing to remember is to keep these backgrounds of your rooms quiet and restful, as they will then best serve as a proper setting for your rugs, draperies and furnishings.

WAR ON WOOD WASTE IS URGED BY GOVERNMENT

"Only 30 per cent. of the wood in a forest now gets into the form of seasoned, unplaned lumber. Of this an aditional 10 to 25 per cent is lost in the process of manufacture. In extreme cases as little as three per cent of the wood in the forest may reach the finished product."

This statement is made in a booklet just issued by the Department of Agriculture, describing the work and aims of the experimental laboratory maintained by the Forest Service.

The booklet outlines how, through investigation and experiment, the laboratory is devising and broadcasting practical commercial methods by which this enormous waste of the country's timber supply can be reduced. By reducing this waste, it is pointed out, the life of our present forests will be prolonged and the problem of growing new forests made simpler, because by preventing the waste of timber less timber will have to be grown.

Among the various methods studied at the laboratory for decreasing waste of forest products is the treatment of woods with perservatives resisting decay. Through such treatment an anual saving of 1¼ billion board feet is estimated to be possible in the case of railroad ties alone, and the preservation of other classes of timber would, in the aggregate, greatly relieve the drain on our forests.

WALKS AND FLOORS

The first requisite of a good concrete walk is a firm foundation. The depth of this will depend on the amount of moisture in the ground and the temperature to which it is subjected. The most usual depth is 16 inches. The bottom should be well tramped and filled in with good hard crushed stone, gravel, brick bats etc., to a depth of 12 inches and compacted. On top of this foundation is placed a 4-inch layer of 1:2 1-2:5 concrete, using a medium mixture. The walk should be divided into blocks approximately square, and joints left between blocks to allow for contraction. This is sometimes done by laying alternate blocks and after they have "set" fill in the empty spaces. The concrete should be tramped until moisture appears on the surface. The water carries a quantity of mortar to the surface with it and this can be smoothed with a wooden "float." Build the walk so that one side is slightly higher than the other to allow for drainage.

When the concrete is nearly hard, go over the surface with a stiff brush removing the marks of the "float" and giving the walk an "exposed" finish; that is, expose the aggregate to a slight degree. In using the brush care should be taken not to remove the larger pieces of stone; and if this occurs, allow the concrete to harden a little longer.

BUILD A HOME

A little land to put it on,
A little cash to start it with,
A plan not too ambitious in its scope;
And presently you'll gaze upon
What once seemed but an airy myth—
A little house of happiness and hope.
A little place you own yourself beneath the heaven's dome.
Oh, wise indeed the man who builds a home!

A little lawn around the place,
A little garden in the rear,
A little porch for sunny days and fair;
A house of such a gentle grace
That happily it will appear
As though it sprang from seed you planted there.
From rented place to rented place too long you've had to roam.
Oh, wise indeed the man who builds a home!

A little spot afar from strife
Where you can feel your soul is free,
Where you can know what comradeship is worth;
A little house, a little wife,
A little child—or two, or three,
A little bit of heaven on the earth.
Oh, wisest of all mortal men who tread upon the loam
Is he who bravely builds a little home!

WORLD CHAMP WOOD CUTTERS ARE CANUCKS

Very Unlikely That the Canadians' Record Will Ever Be Beaten

Where woodsmen do congregate there is often much conversation heard with regard to the feats of wood choppers and those who have pulled off remarkable stunts in this direction.

A few months ago there appeared in the "Canada Lumberman" an illustration of Mr. Jackson and Mr. Maclaren, of Australia, felling oaks and poplars on the estate of the Maquis of Salisbury at Hatfield, Eng. The question was asked,—"Can Canadian woodsmen equal this record?" James McLean, superintendent of the Tree Nursery Station, Department of Interior, Sutherland, Sask., contributes an interesting reminiscence. He states that Stewart Harper, who now resides at Parkhill, Ont., and John D. McColl, who passed away some fifteen years ago, held the championship of Canada for wood-cutting. Their official records, Mr. McLean says, are considerably lower than the Australians made at Hatfield, Eng., the latter claiming to be the champion wood choppers of the present day.

Happer and McColl won seven silver and gold medals and four silver cups during their successful career, among them being 1882 medals for championship of Ontario, and 1883 medals for the championship of Canada.

Sawing hard maple log 17 inches in diameter, time 13½ seconds.

Sawing hard maple log 22 inches in diameter, time 26¾ seconds.

Sawing one cord of wood, without resting, from hard maple tree, time 8 minutes 47 seconds.

Cutting down basswood tree 3 feet in diameter, time 2 minutes and 17 seconds. Cutting this tree into 5 logs, time 1 minute, 1¼ seconds or 12¼ seconds per log.

Dates and places of competition can be furnished.

The record of these Canadian woodsmen still remain unbeaten and it is probable that they will remain unbeaten as forestry conditions have altered greatly since the early '80's.

Japanese People Save Own Timber and Use Canada's Dwindling Supplies

Speaking in the House of Commons recently in the Budget debate A. W. Neill, M.P. for Comox.-Alberni, directed some attention to the lumber situation. He said that the Japanese were likely to take control of a large section of the lubmer lands. The Government of that country had forbidden the cutting of timber in its own forests, and with much astuteness was drawing its supply from other countries. This lumber was being cut in British Columbia by Japanese, sawn in mills owned by Japanese and shipped to Japan in Japanese bottoms. All that British Columbia received was the original price.

Mr. Neill went on to point out that British Columbia only wanted one thing and that was a reduction in freight rates. A large number of British Columbia sawmills were practically idle because of the excessive freight charges. The tariff reduction on mill machinery was an irony because all machinery already there was rusting through lack of use.

STORAGE ROOM IS IMPORTANT IN THE HOME

Suitable Place to Keep Fruits and Vegetables Means Saving to the Family

Whatever you do, don't forget the cellar!

Whether or not you are interested in chemical research into the fermentative qualities of hops, raisins and dandelions, you ought to have a cellar in that new home you are planning to build, according to food authorities.

Don't forget storage space for fruits and vegetables.

Storage Rooms Economical.

Lack of such facilities means a loss of money, time and comfort, not to mention the factor of health.

The old-fashioned home builder seldom overlooked the consideration of at least one room in which to store his winter's supply of fruits, vegetables and home-canned products. The modern home builder has somehow drifted away from this practice.

Buying fruits and vegetables in small quantities to last from day to day means that one is paying for service as well as for the produce. Not only that, but he also is subject to market fluctuations.

Practically all of our common vegetables can be easily stored. Only two conditions are required—warm and cool.

Furnace Room is Used

The furnace room will supply the dry, warm storage needed for sweet potatoes, squash and pumpkin. They may be kept near the furnace.

Another room should be constructed to provide cool storage. Walls of brick or concrete are best, although lumber may be safely used. In the cool storage all root crops will keep. It will not be found at all difficult to maintain a winter's supply of onions, celery, potatoes, cabbage, parsnips, beets, carrots, turnips, apples or winter radishes.

In comfort, economy and health, winter storage of fruits and vegetables will be found a paying proposition.

FOREST PERMITS FOR TRAVELLERS ARE ADVOCATED

Frank J. D. Barnjum, of Montreal, who is widely known in connection with his effective work of preserving and perpetuating the forest supplies of Canada, writes as follows regarding the action of the province of Quebec in closing the forests to the public except by permit to be obtained through the forest department:—

"Next to the prohibiting of the export of crown land wood, this is the wisest and most beneficial legislation ever enacted by any province for the preservation of our forests. This will cause no hardship to anyone and the mere fact that the party travelling in the woods has designated his route and purpose, will insure as far as is possible that no fire will be started along the course of his route.

"We have suffered such appalling losses to our wood supply through bugs fire and wind that no measures can be too drastic that will in any way help conserve our small remaining wood supply. This is something that newspapers are vitally interested in, as welll as the public, as when paper has to be made out of any substitute for wood, the price will be nearer twenty-three cents than three and a half cents, as at present.

"I would suggest that every newspaper heartily commend editorially this recent act of the Government of Quebec, as even Governments like appreciation and the protection of our forests is so vital to our country that it is a matter away and beyond any question of party.

"If the papers and the public do not show their appreciation of such wise, sound legislation as this, it would show that an almost hopeless condition of apathy exists towards our critical forest situation."

JOIST STRENGTH IS IMPORTANT TO HOME BUILDERS

The strength of floors and the permanency of ceilings depend chiefly upon the strength and stiffness of the wooden joists employed. The joists are cut to certain regular sizes and are made from several kinds of Canadian timber. The choice of timber for this purpose usually rests with the architect or builder. Now that Canadian white pine and red pine are so scarce it becomes imperative to consider other native timbers for joists and many architects must feel the need of some guidance in selecting from these other timbers that are offered, particularly when they are comparatively new to the market.

In order to provide figures which will assist in determining the relative qualities of timber to be used for joists the Forest Products Laboratories of Canada are conducting a series of tests to show how full sized joists will behave under various loads up to those sufficient to break completely. The kinds of timber being tested are Douglas fir, Western hemlock Western yellow pine, Western red cedar, Eastern hemlock, Jack pine and Eastern spruce. Tests are also being made on undersized timbers of certain Western woods to see whether a saving of freight can be effected without reducing the strength below that usually obtained.

SOME USES OF CONCRETE

Concrete walks around the house add neatness to the appearance and prevent dust, dirt and mud being tracked into the house. A concrete cellar floor will make a dry cellar and greatly increase the healthfulness of the entire house.

Concrete stables, barns, garages, milk houses, etc. are particularly desirable on account of their durability, cleanliness and fire-proofness.

Concrete root cellars make an ideal place for the storage of fruits and vegetables, keeping them at a uniform temperature and preventing rotting and decay. They are free from rats and mice.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Winnipeg, July 14—Trade volume was again light on the local market today and a quiet session resulted. Prices worked within a narrow range, being steady throughout the session. An easier tendency was prominent near the close and July lost ⅛c October 1⅛c and December 1⅛c.

Coarse grains were also working downward in sympathy with the wheat futures, oats closing ⅛c lower and barley ⅛c down.

Exporters were after the top grades of cash wheat again today and small amounts were changing hands at ⅛c to 1 c better than yesterday. There was also a little demand for No. 2 northern to take care of tonnage already contracted for and the premium was ⅛c to 1c better early in the session, with the close unchanged. Mixing houses were in the market for the lower grades of wheat.

Trade in cash coarse grains was very light with no urgency to the demand. Most grains remained steady but dull.

Inspections totalled 198 cars of which 124 were wheat.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, July 14—Predicitions that damage from black rust was likely to be small led to downturns in the price of wheat today during the early transactions. Reports indicated that the weather was unfavorable for rust development. The opening, which varied from unchanged figures to ⅝ cent lower with September 114¾ to 115¼ and December 116¾ to 117, was followed by material declines all around.

Corn and oats were relatively firm. Country offerings of corn were small and shipping demands fair. After closing unchanged to ⅛ to ⅝ cent higher, September 64⅛ to 64⅝, the corn market held near to the initial range.

Oats started unchanged to ¼ cent off, September 37½ to 37⅝ and later sagged a little more.

Gossip on the Grain and Stock Markets

By Gillespie Grain Company Leased Wire

Harris—Feel that advancing prices are probable.

Stein Alstrin—Some recation from yesterday's upturn would not be suprising. Advocate purchases of corn and oats on all minor reactions.

Lowitz—Look for higher prices for wheat in the immediate future, feel friendly to December corn on all breaks.

Riordan Martin—Would purchase wheat on declines and would not sell corn short.

Bennett—Believe wheat in a position to work higher, crop situation in corn looks bearish.

Chicago—Trade in wheat rather quiet so far this morning and market easier on local selling.

Corn independently firm with a good class of commission house buying.

Winnipeg—There is nothing in this morning's news to influence grain prices either way to any material extent. Exporters report a better inquiry with some business doing. We rather favor the buying side at the moment.

Railroad Stocks Held Steady in New York Encouraged Traders

NEW YORK, July 14—The most encouraging feature of today's uncertain stock market was the comparative steadiness of the railroad division in the face of more strike complications. A few secondary or minor transportations such as St. Paul preferred, Missouri Pacific preferred and Wheeling and Lake Erie preferred were moderately heavy, but investment group was well supported. Otherwise the list was spotty and irregular, forenoon declines of 1 to 4 points among oils, steels, equipments, motors and shippings being followed by general recoveries later. At the end, however, gains and losses were mixed.

Shorts in Mexican Petroleum were again punished, that stock rising almost 10 points from its low of the morning and closing at a gain of 2¾ after having shown a loss of 4¼ points. Pan American Petroleum, Mexican Seaboard and Standard oil of California also benefited by the vigorous recoil in Mexican Petroleum.

Former favorites of the equipment and motor types were tossed to and fro during early and intermediate periods, but finished at substantial gains with American Can and Consolidated Gas. The three percent. opening a renewal for call loans was met by private offerings at ⅝ percent. In the latter part of the day, such funds were freely available at as low as 2½ percent. Time money was firm at 4¼ to 4½ percent, but high grade commercial paper was marketed at as low as four percent.

Another light day was reported in the foreign exchange market, where the further firmness of sterling bills was in striking contrast to reactionary tendencies elsewhere.

Allied remittances eased 3 to 6 points, and most of the neutrals, Norway and Sweeden excepted, were lower with German marks 2 points under their recent top.

Asbestos Proved the Best of Montreal Share List

MONTREAL, July 14—Asbestos featured the trading in listed shares today leading in point of activity and reaching a new high for the day and after a late recession of two points, closed at a net advance of a point at 65.

The balance of the market was mostly dull, with the general tone somewhat more cheerful than of late.

The greatest advance of the day was in Howard Smith which was up 4½ points at 69½. Price Brothers suffered the greatest loss, being off 1¼ points to 40.

In the balance of the papers, Abitibi was up half at 55. Laurentide was off 1 at 86.

Total sales listed 4,564; bonds $92,350.

Western Canada Prices on Cattle Kept up Well Compared with 1921

OTTAWA, July 14—The cattle markets in Western Canada have, according to the dominion live stock branch, been holding up well, and have compared more than favorably with those of the same period of 1921. Unexpected and unusually marketing of grass cattle, lately of poor condition is, however, having a very depressing effect on the market and prices have dropped rather sharply during the past week. Unless cattle of the quality mentioned are held back for better conditions, prices will likely go below those of last July, when 6.50 a hundred was a top figure.

Undertone in Toronto Held Market's Firmness

TORONTO, July 14—Market trading today was again of that intermediate character that has been in vogue for the past few days. The market continues to display a firm undertone, however, and a number of substantial advances were recorded.

Toronto railway again appeared in the active list. MacKay, which has figured prominently in the trading throughout the week was only moderately active today, some 135 shares changing hands at 100¾ to 103¼, closing at 104, for a net gain of ¾. Brazilian traction was slightly weaker at 46⅛, down ⅛.

Bell Telephone was slightly firmer at 111. Twin City sold unchanged at 54, while Winnipeg railway advanced ¼ to 38⅝. Bank stocks were dull and victory bonds held fairly steady.

Reduction in British Railway Rates Did Not Please Leaders

London, July 14.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—The reduction on railway rates announced Wednesday disappointed leaders of the miners who were building on a drastic reduction and the consequent stimulating of the demand for coal. The reductions made, however, were not very substantial and as a result coal will not be affected.

Meanwhile, notices of wage reductions continue to be issued at the various collieries throughout the country, the latest being made at Brierley Hill where the owners have informed 1,100 men that the pits will close down immediately unless the men accept pre-war rates of pay. The Miners' association of Nothtingham, find their finances in a perilous condition and they have opened negotiations to try and avert a stoppage.

FOREST FIRES NEAR NANAIMO HELD IN CHECK

Wind Has Fallen And Hundreds Of Men Are Fighting To Subdue Flames

Vancouver, July 14—The forest fires that for a time last night threatened the towns of Nanaimo and Cumberland on Vancouver Island, are this morning being held in check, according to long distance telephone messages received from those places this morning. The wind has fallen and hundreds of men are fighting to subdue the flames.

At Cumberland fires are burning close to No. 4 and No. 5 coal mines. Yesterday afternoon fanned by a strong wind the flames destroyed the saw-mill and several houses at Bevan, and swept toward Cumberland. The efforts of hundreds of men and the dropping of the wind prevented the fire from reaching the town. This morning there is no apprehension concerning the safety of the town, unless a strong wind springs up from the right direction. Yesterday afternoon the fire burned over a considerable area of timber.

The situation outside Nanaimo appears more favorable this morning as there was practically little wind and a large force of men were holding back the flames. The weather continues dry and hot.

New York, July 14—Premier Mackenzie King's proposal for the framing of a new treaty between Canada and the United States to perpetuate ideals which the framers of the Rush-Bagot agreement had in mind is given strong editorial endorsation by several of the New York papers today. The World in its leading editorial. The World in its leading ediwhich have been derived by both countries from the century-old peace agreement, which, limited only to naval forces, has in spirit prevailed also along the entire international boundary. The paper calls attention to the political questions which have arisen to threaten the peace of the border and have been solved by means of adjudication—the "everlasting fisheries question"; "fifty four forty or fight"; the Fenian raids, the underground railroad for slaves escaping to Canada, and "the Alaskan boundary." History is full of provocatives to conflict which were happily left unused," the paper says.

After expressing the view that if there were free trade across the border there would be still more perfect neighborliness, the World concludes:

"The material world has been so changed by invention within 105 years that the Rush-Bagot agreement may need additions covering activities which a century ago were never dreamed of—telegraphy, the wireless, even the railroads have come since then. But as the matter stands the Canadian boundary is the world's finest example of common sense applied to excluding the nightmare menace of war."

LAST SHOTS ARE BEING FIRED IN ELECTION BATTLE

Progressive Candidate in Winnipeg Gives Outline of Planks Of His Party Platform

Winnipeg, July 14—Charges that the supporters of Premier Norris were attributing to the United Farmers' party the declaration that they would either repeal or materially amend the school act if returned to power, were made here last night by R. W. Craig, K.C., Progressive candidate in this city, at a mass meeting of the Winnipeg Progressive association. The statements were made by Premier Norris' supporters purely for political purposes to cause racial or religious strife, and were false and untrue, Mr. Craig said.

Mr. Craig dealt with practically every one of the planks in the Progressive platform, stating that the aim of the new party was to place the general public interest and welfare before party interests and advantages. To avoid a repetition of the chaotic state which existed in the last legislature, they required co-operation between the rural and urban portions of the province. There was no justification for the charge made against the United Farmers of Manitoba that it was a class movement, he said.

The public debts, said Mr. Craig, had increased during the last three years by an amount equal to the entire public expenditure of the first 48 years of Manitoba's existence. Referring to the liquor question, he stated the Progressive party stood for direct responsible legislation which included the system of referendum. He strongly advocated the keeping separate of provincial and federal politics.

King Boris Seeks Suitable Wife In Great Britain

Sofia, July 14.—Premier Stamboulisky is understood to have asked David Lloyd George to suggest a suitable British mate for King Boris. To this the British prime minister is said to have replied humorously that he had not yet been able to find a wife for the Prince of Wales and that Boris would have to wait, as the supply of royal princesses and other titled ladies in Europe seemed to be depleted.

When the correspondent asked the king about his desire to marry, he said laughingly: "If you believe what some of our neighbors say, my throne is rather insecure and might not support two."

Discuss Compulsory Wheat Marketing at Regina Conference

A Regina special despatch to the Winnipeg Free Press of July 12th, says:

Whether a wheat marketing pool, under concurrent federal and provincial legislation, is in operation to handle this year's grain for the farmers of Saskatchewan and Alberta depends on the attitude of the Alberta government. This was made clear at an all-day conference Monday in Regina, in which the premiers and attorneys-general of the two provinces participated.

Greenfield Non-Committal.

It was announced by Premier Dunning at the close of the conference, that the Saskatchewan government stood ready to call a special session of the legislature to pass the necessary concurrent legislation. Beyond stating that he was returning tonight to Edmonton to discuss with other members of the government the advisability of calling a special session of the Alberta legislature for a similar purpose, Premier Greenfield declined further to discuss his attitude, or the prospective attitude of the Alberta government and legislature towards the proposed marketing scheme.

The conference lasted all day, sessions being held morning and afternoons and evening. Colonel J. A. Cross, of Regina, attorney-general for Saskatchewan, and Hon. J. E. Brownlee, of Edmonton, attorney-genral of Alberta, took part in the deliberations. During the [illegible] James Stewart, of Winnipeg, chairman of the 1919 wheat board, and F. W. Riddell, of this city, vice-chairman of the board, were called into consultation and assisted the members of the two governments with their advice and experience.

Greenfield to Consult Colleagues.

At the close of the conference Premier Dunning said:

"The premier of Alberta will consult his colleagues as soon as possible after his arrival home and the Alberta government will then decide whether or not they will call a special session of their legislature.

"So far as the Saskatchewan government is concerned," continued Mr Dunning, "we are prepared to call a special session of this legislature, but in view of the fact that action by two provinces is necessary under the federal statute, we prefer to await the decision of the Alberta government before deciding definitely to do so."

Before returning home to Edmonton, Premier Greenfield expressed himself as being quite satisfied with the conference.

THE GERMAN IMPERIALISTS

Maximillian Harden in the New York World

Berlin—The German murder epidemic is disgracing the German people in the opinion of the world. True, England also has one, which culminated in the assassination of Sir Henry Wilson, but that represents the last agonies of the war between two peoples. Here compatriots murder each other merely on account of party differences without the excuse of age-long strife.

There have been 317 victims in Germany, all from the democratic group. Not a hair of a nationalist or a royalist has been touched since Germany's collapse. As the latest victim's mangled corpse was being carried home, crowds were cheering Hindenburg and two of the Kaiser's sons at Potsdam, only half an hour away.

The Prussian monarchist Order of St. John was holding its annual knight dubbing festival with all of its ancient monarchial pomp, and with the names of each of Wilhelm's mandarins printed on the program with their full court titles and Eitel Frederick named as His Royal Highness. The officiating clergyman, called Hofprediger—meaning court preacher—expressed the hope of soon seeing Doorn Castle blossom into new life. Everybody understood what was meant.

Still Emperor And King.

Wilhelm, who fled from his army and now is exacting 100,000,000 marks from Germany's misery for his memoirs, still calls himself Emperor and King; his eldest son calls himself Crown Prince; in Bavaria Prince Rupprecht reviews his troops and the adbicated Grand Dukes do likewise in Baden and Hesse. Old Hindenburg performs this ceremony in East Prussia, transported there in a special car and for weeks is adored like a god and honored more than any general after a triumphant victory.

The Republican flag is torn down and spat upon wherever hoisted. The president of Germany is hooted in Munich. Dozens of imperial officers in bright dress uniforms take a morning ride in the Thier Garten followed by uniformed footmen. The old court society gave its balls during the winter in a luxurious hotel, while the devout bourgeoisie looked on reverently from the outside. Nationalist leaders in the Reichstag publicly declare the people want the monarchy restored and promise an early fulfilment.

And the republic allows all this. Unless our leaders are blind or dead they know numerous officials and all military men regard the republic as only an ugly interim stop-gap. This explains why not a single political murder has been expiated and no murderer caught despite gigantic promises of reward, and why the military murder business can be entered into almost without risk.

Murder Greatest Mistake.

The murder of Rathenau was the greatest mistake the military has made. This extraordinarily gifted man was neither a Republican nor a Democrat at heart. He inherited a large business after a sound scientific education. He had many talents, was a favorite of the Kaiser, received many high orders and wore them proudly and he purchased the Queen Louise country seat from the Crown with the right to call it a royal castle. When the war started he took charge of all raw materials and as late as the summer of 1918 prophesied a certain military victory, publicly opposing Prince Max of Baden's peace offer that autumn and calling for a continuation of the war.

This man, who supported the republic only because he realized it was necessary and could thereby fulfil his ambition to hold high office, was maliciously and stupidly slaughtered by anti-Semite militarists.

This extraordinary, intelligent and ambitious millionaire would have favored any reasonable understanding with the royalists. I knew him better than anybody. After twenty-five years of intimacy, and just two years ago, I felt obliged to differ with him and sharply to criticise him. I must now declare that underneath he was drawn much more to the right than to the left. His last work was the organization of a great campaign to prove Germany's innocence of starting the war. He had hoped thus to win the support of the monarchists for the government, not realizing that these people support such a campaign only for the purpose of discrediting the republic.

Government Too Mild.

Rathenau tirelessly courted the favor of the press, and now he is eulogized. A special law to protect the republic has been introduced and the government says it must not happen again, but the same thing was said after Erzberger's assassination, and the only result was that a fine of 5,000 marks was imposed on a man who twice demanded in his paper that Harden, Foerster and other traitors should be shot.

The government still does not dare to compel its troops to carry the flag of the republic, and so long as the government does nothing to engender respect the murder epidemic will continue, and those striving fervently to purify Germany spiritually, morally and politically will have no weapon wherewith to meet the world's judgment that Germany is a dangerous animal which must be kept in chains.

Toronto, July 14—Confronted by the declaration of the Belleville Driving and Athletic association that the construction of a new race track near Port Credit, Ont., would be financed by the issue of bonds, despite the government's refusal to authorize an issue of capital stock, members of the Ontario cabinet yesterday refused to state whether or not further repressive measures would be undertaken.

Another Explosion

The Hague conference seems to be blowing up like an ammunition dump, a section at a time. The original explosion came from the corner where a sub-committee was trying to get the Soviet representatives to promise to restore or pay for property which the Reds have stolen from foreigners who resided in Russia and who were luckless enough to have invested money there. Lenin, of course, has no intention of doing anything of the kind, but it would not be diplomatic to say so at the moment when he is inviting the Allies to hand over a billion dollars and take his word for it that they will get it back some day. Accordingly his spokesmen flatly refused to say what he intended to do until the conference should agree to deliver the cash. The non-Russian delegates declined to comply. Whereupon Litvinoff said he thought the conference had "exhausted its usefulness" and might as well dissolve.

He is right. If Western Europe cannot reconstruct itself without Lenin's help it may as well give up hope, for he has neither the talent nor the inclination to construct anything. His instinct is destructive, and he holds all modern records for achievement along that line. If the Allied nations undertake to subsidize him while they are also attempting to re-establish their own industrial and commercial systems they will just postpone their recovery by the waste of that much working capital, for Lenin can destroy wealth faster than all Eurote can create it.

Meantime from Switzerland comes a report that the Third Internationale—alias the Soviet outfit—have earmarked another quarter of a million Russian dollars to be spent in revolutionary propaganda abroad—that is, in those countries which are now feeding the famine-stricken people in the Volga district, and which are also supposed to put up the billion dollars which Lenin demands. The Russians may starve, but the world revolution must go on. The moral is inescapable. The less money the Soviet can lay hands on the better for the security of Europe. If the Allied nations are foolish enough to back Lenin's notes they may as well make up their minds to pay; and if Lenin does not spend the actual proceeds to spread Bolshevik doctrine in the countries which thus supply him with funds he will assuredly use the economic fruits of the investment for that very purpose.

Western Europe has been invited at The Hague, as it was invited at Genoa, to pay the cost of its own destruction; by financing the world revolution at the sacrifice of its own means of recovery. Fortunately there appears to be less likelihood that the delegates will walk into the trap. The British representatives are said to be now solidly with the French in the view that the Soviet is not to be trusted with anybody's money. The sooner the delegates go home and tell their respective Governments that patent but much under-rated fact the better the outlook for the peoples in Western Europe who would like to have three meals a day and a measure of relief from the ever-impending red peril.

The Hague conference has one large opportunity to better conditions in Europe. Its collapse may destroy the delusion that economic salvation is to be found in talk, and stimuate a general conviction that each people will have to work out its own future by strict attention to its own business.

National concentration of capital and effort in the direction of self-help will accomplish more for the restoration of that war-torn old continent than any amount of international pow-wowing over the prospect of creating general prosperity and ensuring peace by paying blackmail to the pirates at Moscow.

Theory and Fact.

British Columbia' has made a million and three-quarter dollars by selling whisky in nine months. Yet some people tell us that there is little or no drinking where the Government dispenses "booze" to all who want it.

Grown-ups Too, Please.

A local magistrate has been warning boys that they must not ride their bicycles on the sidewalks or the police will take them in hand. It is to be hoped that the guardians of the law will not confine their attentions in that regard to the boys. Quite a number who are no longer boys also make the footpaths their speedways. Of the two classes the older ones should be punished first, and more heavily than the little chaps. They certainly know better; the others may or may not.

No Low Rates Grievance.

The Winnipeg Free Press says: "There are some newspapers "which complain that because the "Crow's Nest Pass freight rates "on wheat remain intact rates on "basic commodities in which their "districts are interested will be "less than they would like to see "them." Such papers are certainly not published in Canada. There is no room in the Dominion for any paper to complain that rates on anything are not high enough. And no danger, after what Parliament did, that there will be any kicking on that score.

Where the Money Is Lost.

One of the Government trade agents in India sees hope for the National railways in Canada, because, the publicly-owned railways of that eastern empire earned 17 million dollars last year more than operating costs and capital charges. It is to be noted, however, that two-thirds of the Indian railways are operated by private companies, and that they carry passengers at an average rate of a little over a half cent per mile. If the Canadian Government railways were leased to a company that would get no dividends unless it made them pay perhaps there would be a difference in the showing. It is not because the Government owns railway lines that the Canadian taxpayer has to put up eight dollars per head per year to pay a deficit, but because the Government tries to operate them. The Government of India had the sense to keep pretty well clear of that.

Not Helping a Bit.

The United Mine Workers have terrorized the coal fields in Illinois until the stripping mines have shut down. In six states U.S. troops are on duty to keep the striking railway shopmen from stopping the operation of trains. At South Shields, constables fought a pitched battle with striking miners who wanted to keep other men from digging coal. Without reference to the causes of dispute, it ought to be apparent to any one that reconstruction can never be accomplished by such means as this. The cry everywhere is that the cost of living is too high. It certainly is not being made any lower when men stop work and prevent others from working. There are too many people idle already, and living at the expense of those who are doing something. Unless other means are accepted for readjusting wage and price levels, the process of deflation will be delayed, and there is the gruesome possibility that it may only be achieved through real and widespread industrial war.

THE RAILWAY QUESTION.

Toronto Telegram:

The Borden-Rowell choice of Canada's chief commissioner of railways, plus Hon. Arthur Meighen's failure to rewrite the Carvell freight rates, have made the cost of freighting heavy products for sixty-five miles almost sixty or seventy per cent. of the cost of these products. Canada's railways have become too expensive for use and not cheap enough for ornament.

A POLITICAL FLARE—BACK

New York World:

The most hopeful thing about the Fordney-McCumber tariff is that the bill has brought disaster to the politicians who framed it before it has had a chance to work out its evil consequences on the country. With McCumber beaten and Fordney retiring, with the super-high-protectionists defeated almost everywhere in their own party primaries, the bill has already become such a political liability that the Republican managers must be wishing there was some way out of the mess.

WHO GOT THE MONEY?

Helsingfors, June 18.—(By mail). —The Executive of the Russian Communist Party, when revising the accounts of the propaganda fund of the Third International, found that no accounts had been kept for a sum of thirty million gold rubles.

Zinovieff, (who had been in charge of this fund, at first refused to give any details, but when pressed hard said that three million gold rubles had been used in connection with the Genoa Conference, seven million to support the Indian Nationalists against England, and the remainder as subsidies for the revolutionists in the Border States, Germany, and Italy.

THE RIGHT TO WORK

Pres. Harding has lately been visiting his home town of Marion, Ohio, and, in the course of his homecoming address, he said:

"A free American has the right to labor without any other's leave. It would be no less an abridgement to deny men to bargain collectively and governments cannot tolerate any class or group domination through force. It will be a story day when group domination is reflected on our laws. Government, and laws which government is charged with enforcing must be for all the people ever aiming at the common good."

THE NEW GAS AGREEMENT.

Editor, The Bulletin:

One point should never be lost sight of in any discussion of the question whether the new gas agreement should or should not be referred to the burgesses. The allusion is to the very peculiar circumstances under which the famous amendment to the city charter was slipped over in the dying hours of the last session of he provincial legislature. The history of that amendment has a distinct bearing upon two different things—the value of the amendment not as a matter of law but as a matter of public policy, and, further, the merits as civic representatives of those who acted, or rather did not act, on behalf of the burgesses.

Alderman Pratt, sharing the curiosity of a large number of citizens as to the origin of the amendment, appealed to the attorney-general of the province for light. The reply of Mr. Brownlee was decidedly illuminating. The first movement toward obtaining the amendment came, as Mr. Brownlee indicated, from some residents of Killam and district around it. What right the Killamites had to attempt to tamper with the charter of the city of Edmonton is inconceiveable. Surely, the humorous fancy of W. S. Gilbert never conjured up anything funnier than this instance of presumption. Under such conditions the rights of the Edmonton citizens would be absolutely at the mercy of the people of Okotoks or Kitscoty or any other village or district in Alberta who, instigated possibly by clever manipulators with axes to grind, might like to tinker with the city charter.

The opera-bouffe army besieging the city had, however, friends among the garrison. Some legal citizens went, according to Mr. Brownlee, to the assistance of the Killamites, inspired by motives which are perhaps best known to themselves and those acquainted with their affiliations. The peril drew nearer to the burgesses, but there was still hope. The matter referred to the city council, their elected representatives, and naturally they would fly to arms at once. Alas hope told a flattering tale. The matter referred to the council seems never to have been disposed of by that body, and yet it is alleged that Mayor Duggan informed the provincial authorities that there would be "no opposition" to the contemplated amendment. There was no manning the bastions, no call to arms to repel attack from inside or outside. "Not a drum was heard, not a funeral note" when our chief magistrate, the guardian of our interests, surrendered so tamely, and when another safeguard of the unfortunate burgess was buried darkly at dead of night.

There was surely no reason capable of being fairly stated for the strange supineness of our mayor and aldermen, or for the recent attitude of a number of them. Had they offered any opposition, had the voice of the burgesses been heard then, as it was last Friday evening, it is impossible to believe that the legislature would have deliberately placed us in our present position. The writer is not a supporter of the so-called farmer government, but he has every confidence in the fairness and honesty of purpose of the premier and the attorney-general. Such men would not have lent support to any proposal which tended to make a burlesque of local self-government, and which was fairly and squarely opposed by the burgesses or their representatives. With such men to deal with, it is, furthermore, not too late to hope that some relief can be obtained by petition or by strong and combined representations from the burgesses. To filch away the rights of those burgesses and vest them in any utilities board against their expressed will and by trick legislation, would not savor of what is due to a free self-governing community, but of the methods of kaiserism or the soviet. Men of the type of the present provincial cabinet are surely quite incapable of such unworthy juggling with the interests of the people of the capital city.

The legal defenders of the course which is apparently to be followed in regard to the new gas franchise need not trouble themselves to split hairs and practise the arts of the special pleader. Nobody questions the powers of the legislature, but though it be excellent to have a giant's strength it is tyrannous to use it like a giant. Of such intentional tyranny the provincial government may be acquitted. The burgesses have spoken at a meeting duly called by and presided over by the mayor. They will speak again in louder and louder tones if they are afforded an opportunity. Surely their wishes, though unsupported by a number of their representatives, should carry some weight even against the desires of the Killamites and their legal allies in Edmonton. The enforced imposition of the new amendment might be in accordance with the strict letter of the law, but it would be worse than a crime—a blunder—from the point of view of public policy. It has been damned by the circumstances of its birth, and those who, being in a position to do so, have strangely failed to oppose it, have thereby wilfully forfeited the confidence of the people who elected them. It is no time—it never is a time—for threats; but it is a time for plain statement of what must be known to the aldermen themselves. If the city council persist in going over the heads of the burgesses, they must surely realize that their own official heads are in grave danger. They would be sowing dragon's teeth which would be apt to spring up armed men at an early date next December.

Yours, etc.,
BOTHERED BURGESS.

UNCOMMON SENSE

By John Blake

A SURE CURE FOR CONCEIT.

An astronomer of Victoria, British Columbia, has lately discovered two seemingly tiny stars whirling about each other fifty two millions of miles from the little earth, on which we tiny human atoms creep about.

Their light is twenty thousand times brighter than the sun, and their mass 380 times as great.

An aeroplane travelling two hundred miles an hour would require thirty-two million years to reach these spheres.

Doubtless in the vast universe that stretches infinitely beyond these suns are others still larger.

They are as much greater than we are as the tiniest microbe that burrows somewhere within us and gives us influenza or small pox or pneumonia.

It would be difficult for Napoleon or Mr. Jack Dempsey or even a head walter in a fashionable New York restaurant to believe himself of any particular importance when contemplating these distant orbs.

It would be impossible for the most conceited among us to think that our doings were of any consequence, when thinking of a universe so vast that our earth could travel about it for a thousand times more ages than it has been in existence, without ever coming into contact with the heat given off by such prodigious bodies.

We have been given life for a useful purpose, of course, but we are prone to exaggerate that part we play in it, or how little the greatest men and women among us change even the progress of existence on this single little sphere of ours, which is less than a marble compared with even our own sun, which we can see and feel and try to understand.

When we know that every star we see, outside of the planets in our own solar system is a sun like our own, with perhaps its own little circle of surrounding worlds, we begin to think that perhaps after all it would not matter so much to the Great Power that controls the whole system whether we lived or died.

Conceit keeps most of us from doing all that we ought to in this tiny world of ours. We are prone to magnify our own importance and to think that trouble would be sure to follow if we were not permitted to function as we choose.

Reflection about the universe and its giant suns and flying comets and spaces that are beyond our power to understand gives us a better perspective.

If continued for a reasonable time every few days it will absolutely banish conceit.

Wage Reduction Not in Effect On Michigan Central

Ottawa, July 14—(Canadian Press) —The reduction in wages in the shop trades, which has been put into effect on the United States railways, will not go into force on the Canadian section of the Michigan Central pending an inquiry which is being conducted into the dispute between the company and its Canadian employees.

Word to this effect was received by the minister of labor this morning in a letter by General Manager Shearer of the Michigan Central.

The board of conciliation is now fully constituted, J. M. McEvoy, K.C., of London, having been appointed chairman by the minister of labor as the representative of the company and the employees would not agree upon the choice of a presiding officer. The company is represented by D. T. Malcomson, of Hamilton, and the employees by W. D. Robbins, of Toronto.

NINE-YEAR-OLD BOY IS VICTIM OF MOVIES.

Montreal, July 14.—Blessed with a vivid imagination fired by frequent visits to the movies where the exploits of film heroes thrilled his tiny being, a nine-year-old boy stole a revolver, held up a 14-year-old lad in a grocery store and stole goods worth $9.00. Now he is before the juvenile court—his second appearance, as he was arrested some six months ago for stealing his first gun.

FRENCH SOLDIERS ARE REVIEWED BY PRESIDENT

Brilliant Military Ceremony Takes Place At Longchamp Race Course

Paris, July 14.—Soldiers of France from the land, sea and air forces passed in review today before President Millerand and a crowd of hundreds of thousands of persons at the Long Champs race course in the annual fourteenth of July military pageant, the chief feature of Bastille Day.

Three marshals of France—Foch, Joffre and Petain—were present to see the marshal's baton presented by the head of the state to Generals Fayolle and Franchet D'Esperey.

A big yellow dirigible, three squadrons of military aeroplanes and an observation balloon hovered over the vast field, while on the green lawn of the race course, in the midst of the trees of the Bois De Boulogne, 20,000 men with a mass of war material, marched for an hour and a half past the stands packed with cheering people and the thickly-massed crowds that encircled the field.

The martial spirit of the many thousands of veterans came to the surface when fourteen massed bands struck up the Marseillaise as President Millerand in his carriage of state with outriders and a guard of honor, drove on the field.

Premier Poincare and the other cabinet members were present, together with hundreds of notable men from all walks of life and most of the foreign ambassadors. The day was comfortably cool and the sky was overcast for the first time on the fourteenth of July within the memory of the present generation. A few drops of rain fell, but not enough even to spot the many gorgeous costumes of the women of fashion, who were wearing their prettiest hats and gowns.

HALIBUT FLEET GETS HEAVY BLOW BY LATEST ORDER

Fishermen of Seattle Suffer Severely as Result of Ruling Of Dominion Government

Seattle, Wn., July 13—Threatening complete destruction of the Seattle and Alaska halibut fishing industry which supports approximately two thousand families in Seattle, according to the fishing vessel owners, the Canadian cabinet has issued an order-in-council prohibiting American fishing boats from buying bait in Canadian waters unless they deliver their catches to Canadian ports. The new American tariff bill as adopted by the United States senate makes it impossible for American vessels to land their catches in Canadian ports, it is pointed out.

The fishermen here say that the order-in-council evidently comes in retaliation of the duty which the new tariff bill places on halibut or other fresh fish entering the United States from Canada. The bill not only places a duty of two cents a pound on Canadian fresh fish, but imposes the same duty on American caught fresh fish when landed in a Canadian port and shipped in bond to the United States. The imposition of the duty on American fish shipped in bond through Canada, it is claimed, is unwarranted and dangerous. Fresh fish hitherto has been carried by American vessels to Prince Rupert for shipment in bond to the United States. The Alaskan fishing banks being too remote to bring the fish to Seattle.

The imposition of the duty on the American caught fish shipped in bond through Canada came as a heavy blow to the halibut fleet, officers of the Vessel Owners' association said today, and now the Canadian order-in-council comes as the last straw. The fleet is dependent on Canadian waters for its supply of herring bait.

The Seattle families dependent on the port's halibut fleet, officers of the association said, spend more than $225,000 a month in Seattle stores.

WORRIED WOMEN NEED RICH BLOOD

If the Blood Is Not Kept Pure Health Will Break Down

It is useless to tell a hard working woman to take life easily and not to worry. To do so is to ask the almost impossible. But, at the same time, it is the duty of every woman to save her strength to meet any unusual demands. It is a duty she owes herself and family, for her future health may depend upon it.

To guard against a complete breakdown in health the blood must be kept rich, red and pure. No other medicine does this so well as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This medicine strengthens the nerves, restores the appetite and keeps every organ healthily toned up. Women cannot always rest when they should, but they can keep their strength by the occasional use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Among those who have found benefit from this medicine is Mrs. Cora Conrad, Broad Cove, N.S., who says: "My system was very much run down, and my blood poor and watery. I suffered a great deal from headaches and dizziness; my appetite was poor, and I tired easily. I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and have every reason to be glad that I did so. Soon I felt better, and under the continued use of the pills the headaches and dizziness were gone, and my blood seemed in a better condition than before. For this reason I recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Glasgow Market For Canadian Cattle Expected to Fall

Ottawa, July 14—(Canadian Press) —The market for Canadian fat cattle for immediate slaughter at Glasgow from now until the autumn will show a marked decline in values, according to a report received by the dominion livestock branch here from a very reliable source in Scotland. It appears that Ireland has fairly heavy holdings of good-conditioned cattle and that by the end of the month the first of the big Scottish lamb sales take place and very large quantities of young mutton will be put on the market.

The cost of sending a carcass from Toronto to Glasgow is about six cents per pound, or 3 1-4 cents per pound on a live 1,300 pound steer, a total cost on an animal of $42.25 Such cost is out of line with British selling prices and will prove a prohibitive condition.

Haugdahl to Make Further Try

Auto Races at Exhibition Attract Record Crowd Friday

SPORT

Haugdahl Misses the World's Record by One Fifth of a Second

NEW TRACK FIGURE MADE FOR FIVE MILES; A RECORD CROWD WATCHES DUST DOGS

Fans Turn Out to Pack Grandstand for First Day of the Automobile Races—Glassy Track and High Winds Prevent Haugdahl Lowering World's Record for Mile—Close Finishes and Near Spill Give Crowd Thrills

Any doubt that may have lingered in the minds of exhibition authorities as to what Edmonton people like to see was dispelled yesterday afternoon when Alex Sloane's dust hounds disported themselves on the track before a grandstand packed to capacity and a comfortable crowd in the overflow bleachers. The heart of more than one director was gladdened by the sight, for be it candidly admitted the slender attendance during the early days of the week was causing some uneasiness as to the financial outcome of the exhibition.

However, the crowds flocked into the stands to see the speed fiends perform.

High winds and much dust did not tend to make things easy for the drivers. The track was packed as hard as pavement—so hard, in fact, that it did not give the wheels sufficient grip, and taking the ends was a hazardous performance.

The crowd got an ample supply of thrills and a gasp out of a near spill when Miss Zenita Neville, in an exhibition drive, turned completely around while finishing the turn at the northeast end of the track.

One track record was broken when Sig Haugdahl, driving a Frontenac in the final of the Edmonton Sweepstakes, did the five miles in 5:51 2-5, clipping ten seconds off the previous record made by Fred Horey three years ago.

Haugdahl was unable to beat the world's record for the mile in his Wisconsin special either in the afternoon or evening. In the afternoon the conditions of the track and the high wind were adverse circumstances. When rounding the eastern curve the strong wind exerted a tremendous pressure against the side of the car the result being that it was necessary to slow down. It was the same wind that was largely responsible for Miss Neville's difficulty. The Norwegian driver tried twice. Both times he negotiated the distance in 1:01 3-5 or one fifth of a second slower than the world's record. Coming down the stretches he roared past at seventy or eighty miles an hour but at the east turn had to pull up to the comparatively slow speed of thirty-five miles. In the evening he tried it again. The track was in better condition and the wind had abated. He made the first lap in less than 30 seconds but had engine trouble in the second and pulled into the pits. He will try again today.

Is Confident

Haugdahl feels confident that given a track as good as last night, fair weather conditions and his engine in good order as it will be today, he can lower the record of 1.01 2-5 on the Edmonton track. In fact he hopes to bring it down under the minute.

The feature event of the day was the Edmonton Sweepstakes. Two heats of it were run and the final. The second heat and the final were remarkable races. Good time was made in both. In the first heat there was some jockeying for position at the turns which slowed up the game a bit.

In the first heat Allen, Anderson, Jackels, Lampkin and Endicott starter. It was seven laps and for the first four Allen, Anderson and Endicott kept well to the front. Jackels dropped back early in the race running behind Lampkin. For the fifth and sixth laps Endicott pulled up but in the seventh Lampkin drove his car into the front with Endicott second and Swede Anderson third. It was in that position they finished the time being 4:19 2-5.

Second Heat

Claypool, Haugdahl, Allen and Anderson started in the second heat. For five out of the seven laps Claypool started in the lead and held it for four times around with Anderson in No. 15 running right at his side. Haugdahl in No. 11 was not half a length behind most of the time while Allen in No. 8 was trailing. In the fifth lap Anderson spurted into the lead and held it for two laps only to drop back to third position at the finish. Claypool, Haugdahl and Anderson finishing in the order named. The time for this heat was 4:09 2-5.

Lampkin, Haugdahl and Claypool were in the final heat. The three cars ran side by side most of the way seesawing back and forth for leadership. Claypool led in the greatest number of laps but in the last two Haugdahl drove his Frontenac to the front and nosed out a narrow win in 5:51 2-5 beating the previous track record made by Fred Horey three years ago by ten seconds. This race brought the grand stand to its feet with a roar as the cars flashed past the finishing tape.

The consolation provided a good competition. Anderson, Endicott and Daly entered. Anderson won the event with Endicott second the time for the five laps being 3:03 3-5.

The Summary

Edmonton sweepstakes, first heat: 1 Lampkin, 2 Endicott, 3 Anderson. Time 4:19 2-5. Distance 3 1-2 miles.

Edmonton sweepstakes, second heat: 1 Claypool, 2 Haugdahl, 3 Anderson. Time 4:09 2-5. Distance 3 1-2 miles.

Edmonton sweepstakes, final: 1 Haugdahl, 2 Claypool, 3 Lampkin. Time 5:51 2-5. Distance five miles. A new record track record for the five miles was made in this race the previous mark being made by Horey several years ago of 6:01 1-5.

Consolation, 2 1-5 miles: 1 Anderson, 2 Endicott, 3 Daly. Time 3:03-3-5.

In two trials for the world's record for the mile on a half mile dirt track Haugdahl in his Wonder Car drove the distance twice in 1:01 3-5 or one fifth of a second slower than his own world's record.

Hornsby Ties American League Home Run Record

ST. LOUIS, July 14—Roger Hornsby, of the St. Louis Nationals, tied the league home run record in today's game with Philadelphia by clouting his twenty-fourth drive in the seventh inning off Hubbell. No one was on bases. The record 24 was made by "Gavvy" Cravath, of Philadelphia in 1915. The old National league record was twenty-seven, made by Ed. Williamson, of Chicago in 1884.

HILLHURST IS ONE GOAL DOWN IN CUP SERIES

Nanaimo Wins Two to One—Calgary Played Short One Man in Second Half

CALGARY, July 14— Nanaimo representatives of British Columbia obtained a one goal margin in the first of the two game Connaught cup series when they defeated Hillhursts champions of Alberta at Hillhurst park tonight.

The score was 2 to 1. The second and final game will be played at six o'clock tomorrow.

The game was easily the fastest and most exciting that has been played here since the Scottish Internationals performed against the all-star Calgary eleven, last fall.

It was a hard fought contest during the ninety minutes of play and so gruelling at times that there were numerous casualties. In fact, Hillhurst really played nine men to their oppenents eleven during the last half as George Davis, appeared periodically in the second half and eventually had to retire for keeps while Andy Mitchell although remaining the full route, notwithstanding an injury early in the game was little or no use to the team.

Fifteen hundred fans shouldered their way in the park and some idea of what the game was like can be gleaned from the fact that every one of them were still on hand when full time was called.

Nanaimo played a better brand of soccer than the locals and no one can deny that they were the better team and deserved their triumph, it is all the more creditable when it is taken into consideration that they had a long train ride, were playing on strange grounds and in the presence of an enthusiastic gathering that was pulling strongly against them, although very generous in applause every time they made a beautiful play.

Hillhurst are to be commended upon for their magnificent performance, under conditions made possible by the rules which prohibits the use of substitutes.

Poker Is a Game of Skill Declares a Vancouver Judge

VANCOUVER, July 14— Ruling that poker is a game of skill, Mr. Justice Ruggles today declared legal a promissary note given by C. S. Morris to Jack Mayville for $260.00 following a game at Ocean Falls a year ago. Mr. Morris failed to honor the note and pleaded in the county court that poker being a game of chance, the note was not legal.

Firemen From Calgary Play In City Today

The Annual Inter-City Firemen's Football Game Will Take Place This Evening at Diamond Park

Tonight at seven o'clock at Diamond Park the Calgary Firemen and the Edmonton Firemen meet in their annual inter-city football game. The Calgary team has practically the same lineup as last year. All their old time stars are still with the club which is rated to be one of best in the southern city. The Edmonton Firemen have a nifty squad of kickers and have ambitions of downing the southern eleven.

The annual firemen's game is a big attraction both in Calgary and Edmonton. It invariably attracts a large crowd and is usually an excellent game of football.

The Edmonton team will be as follows: Williamson, Bruce, Steel, Arnold, Price, Gauld, Robertson, Dutton, Topping, McKay, Campbell.

WINNIPEG HAS LEAD IN GAME WITH REGINA

United Weston Scores Three to One Victory in Connaught Cup Series

WINNIPEG, July 14—The United Weston football club of Winnipeg took a two goal lead over the Mounted Police team of Regina here tonight in the first game of two of the Connaught cup elimination series. The score was 3 to 1 and the locals deserved the lead though a one goal margin wolud be a better indication of the play. The husky visitors were strong on defence but somewhat weak on the attack finishing poorly and were no doubt handicapped by the strange surroundings and should do better tomorrow. The sensational performance of Captain Culverhouse, at full back for the visitors was the feature of the game.

The visitors scored three minutes after the kick-off and it took the locals twenty minutes to equalize and they were forced to play the most beautiful game they have shown this season to get the lead. They tallied again just before half time, but were pretty well on the defence in the second period, but a fast breakaway gave them their third tally just before time. The teams play again tomorrow.

Jimmy Duncanson, of Winnipeg refereed. The teams:—Regina:—Timmis Barnes and Culverhouse, Hawkins Whitehead and Burgess, Richardson, Howe, Barker, Hutchinson and Taylor.

Winnipeg:—Scott, Lennon and McQueen, Slidders, Harley and McNeil, Gregg, Bruce, Nill, McKenzie and Grant.

Wesley Hands Another Trimming to Shiloh in Church League Contest

Wesley defeated Shiloh 12 to 10 in an interesting game played at the Victoria high school grounds last night. It was a see-saw contest from start to finish. In the eighth inning Shiloh had the score ten to eight in their favor, but in the ninth the Wesley boys landed on King for six hits which sent over four runs and won the game. Howey and Cope were the batters for Yesley and King and Brixton for Shiloh.

These two teams will meet in the final series. Shiloh won the first half of the league and Wesley has the second half cinched, for, although they lose the two games remaining to be played, they will still be in the lead.

RANGERS AND P.O. DRAW

The Rangers and Post Office football teams played a scoreless draw in the third division schedule last night at Diamond Park. Rangers missed a penalty kick. The teams were very evenly matched.

BASEBALL GAME TONIGHT

The Fairview and Wesley baseball teams play a game at the Bay diamond tonight at seven o'clock.

FINALS WILL BE PLAYED AT TORONTO TODAY

International Matches in Both Men's Doubles and Men's Singles Events

TORONTO, July 14—An international tennis battle between the crack Vancouver doubles pair, A. S. Milne, and Geo. Peers, and F. G. Anderson senior, and Frank Anderson, New York, father and son, will take place here tomorrow for the National men's doubles championship. Another International affair will be held in the final for the men's open singles between Frank Anderson, New York, who won the United States indoor championship in 1921, and Robert Baird, of Toronto, Canadian ex-champion.

Peers and Milne reached the finals by winning two matches today. They won a good match from Harold Taylor, of New York, and R. Bradley, of Harvard, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3, and then met the Toronto pair, Jack Chipman and Ralph Burns, winning in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3.

To the surprise of everyone, Baird, Toronto, and G. D. Holmes, Winnipeg, defeated L. K. Verley and W. H. Richards, Vancouver, easily, 6-4, 6-0. Baird and Holmes were later eliminated by the Andersons, 6-3, 6-3.

Vancouver players will also participate in the mixed doubles final, Miss E. M. MacDonald and W. H. Richards will meet Miss Hutchings, of Bermuda, and Verley.

Miss Hutchings will meet Mrs. Harry Bickle, Toronto, in the women's doubles final, Miss Hutchings won a spectacular game in the semi-final from Miss MacDonald.

Bud Thomas, of Ottawa, won the national junior championship defeating J. B. Purcell, of Guelph, somewhat easily.

CARS WEIGH IN

STRASSBOURG, July 14—Nineteen motor cars weighed in here yesterday for the Grand Prix, which will be run next Saturday over an Alsatian circuit for the first time. Eleven French, five British and three Italian cars qualified for the race. Drivers include Nazarro, who won the Grand Prix with an Italian car in 1907, and Wagner, an old-timer of French speed trials. The course is a triangular one, starting just west of Strassbourg and covers one of the most picturesque regions in Alcase.

Grand Circuit Races

TOLEDO, July 14—Today's grand circuit meeting was marred by a near scandal.

In the second heat of the Fort Miama stake, the favorite, Prince Loree, poorly driven for the first half, came from behind and apparently won from Princess Etawah in a tight finish. The judges placed Princess Etawah first and Prince Loree second.

When the race was over, the Toledo driving club caused it to be announced that all auction pools and result book tickets sold on the race were declared off and the money refunded and that all mutual monies bet on the second heat would be refunded. The judges at once resigned.

It was a Tommy Murphy afternoon the Poughkeepsie driver winning the Fort Miama Stake with Princess Etawah and the free-for-all pace with Roy Grattan after Single G had been withdrawn owing to lameness.

HARMONIZE ROADS TO RECALL TRAVELLER A SECOND TIME; BLEND THEM WITH SCENERY

Every motorist knows of a stretch of road which calls him to come back and travel it again. It has charm, some appeal which may be well defined or illusive, making it an outstanding roadway among his highway acquaintanceship. There is a personality about it, if roads can have such attributes, and it carries a welcome for all motorists.

Ther has been so much written and said about roads which are direct lines and have good surfaces that it is well worth while to stop and consider something besides grade, alignment, subfoundations and top materials. Engineering features alone do not make good roads.

Roads must serve as traffic lines and are primarily for carrying travel, but there are features in the make-up of a road besides smoothness of surface, directness of route or preciseness of engineering. The roads possessing these and, in addition, endowed with those somewhat indefinable attributes of appealing livability, approach the ideal human service roads. The exactness and fitness of engineering and construction unaided never carry the appeal the humanized highway offer.

Indeed, it is probable that the highway with the invitation to come again is not a first-class traffic line. Often it is a little country lane, maybe with an occasional mud hole and along the fence lines are shrub groups with fragrant blossoms or delicious wild fruits. No argument is needed in pointing out that generally the hard surfaced roadway is not as attractive to the traveller as roadways which are not so exactly engineered. The evidence of this condition lies along almost any paved road when contrasted with a country lane.

Incorporate It In Roads.

If this appeal is worth anything to the motorist is it not logical to analyze it, study it and, if possible, incorporate it in all roads? If it is true that the country lane is more pleasing to the traveller than the broad, concrete or asphalt high road, what makes it that way? Finding the factors which make the country lane attractive, and producing them along the higher grade traffic line is a worth-while project. It will add much to the enjoyment of the highway of high grade and recompense the motor club, the civic organization or other body of public-spirited people who make the more "livable" road a reality.

Planning the human use highway is a field in landscape architecture, and an artist of the profession could take a road as a unit and produce a composition which, in its way, would rival the most exquisite of famous gardens.

Roadways must be designed primarily to carry traffic. Serving this purpose they must have good construction and engineering embodied in them if they are to be efficient.

A road which presents beauty in the area between two paralleling fences must be started with the mechanical construction. Exactly in the same manner a house in which a home is to be built must have a good solid foundation under its walls. The surface should blend softly into the landscape both in color and lines. The road ribbon stretching out before the motorist should not be glary or stiff, but an integral part of the landscape. The softer toned rock surfaces most often are pleasing in tint and present no stiff lines.

Next in consideration, after road lines and surface color and texture, is the roadside garden. A roadside can harbor striking wild flower gardens. Lovely graceful blossoms will add much to a road's furnishings. In that strip of land between the edges of the road surface and the fences a wild flower sanctuary of no mean proportions may thus be established.

Where there are no shrubs, sod and flowers should extend from the road to the fence line. Shrubs should be allowed to grow along the highway but only in reasonable numbers. They should not screen out the broader landscape of the fields and meadows beyond.

Trees have their place along the roadway. The overarching elms of the east and the shaggy pines and oaks of the west all have their places as the native plant materials which should be allowed to grow on their own initiative or planted in proper location. Generally all these things come as volunteers, the only cutting of roadside undergrowth necessary being in the case of weeds. The natural arrangement will often be much better than if some would-be artist attempted to locate the plants.

Man's work in making highways for the service of human beings does not end with shrub, flowers and tree protection or planting. Roads, so developed, serve two great functions of being traffic lines and compositions of naturalistic beauty, but there is other service possible along all our roadways. Such roads invite one to linger and live on the road. Developments meeting such a demand are a part of any human use highway.

Attractive Features.

Picnicking and camping offer two of the most attractive human service features on our highways. The roadside picnic and week-end camp is an institution which has come to stay. It so well meets an increasing demand that it will grow rapidly into general popularity. Already it is a recognised part of many communities and soon will be looked upon as an essential portion of our highway system.

Humanized highways serve and satisfy human beings. They are more than traffic lines though they must act in that capacity efficiently. A road is not finished if it is merely a traffic line, for only the foundation is present. It does not wholly serve. Beauty must be preserved and allowed to develop; spring and well development must be installed and the small areas of temporary human habitation should be established to make highway lines more than roadbeds.

Let us build more roadways for motor traffic, make them examples of the finest permanent construction our engineers have evolved, but let us not stop there. Humanize them. Make them livable. Make them call a welcome to the traveller as he speeds over their surfaces, and let them call him to them again after he has gone because of their charm and beauty present in the roadside flower and bird sanctuaries, and because the human service features of well or shelter and the welcoming temporary home of the traveller in the roadside parks make the roads 'homey.'

The slogan "Better roads" means more than hard surfacing, good drainage and good grades. It means more than a lowered cost of running a car because of better construction features. It means greater roads for Canada; Canadian roads, if you please, which will embody the best of our broad landscapes and landscape detail into the general road scheme and make our highways so distinctive they will eventually reach the pinnacle of all roadway fame and become the "best roads"—roads of both service and beauty.

AUTO AN AID TO ALL SORTS OF SPORT

It would be interesting to delve into statistics and determine to just what extent the automobile has aided the development of any line of sport or all lines.

It is certainly true that sport flourished, but not in all its glory, before the advent of the horseless carriage. At any rate, it has certainly increased its scope since it was possible for Mr. Common People to own an automobile.

The motor car has greatly aided one of the oldest games known—the royal and ancient pastime of golf, and it has made it possible for thousands of persons in this country to indulge in the sport. An increase is also noticeable in the Old Country.

The minutes of today's every day business man are worth real money to him. And he is one of the greatest devotees of the sport in the country. The only reason for that is the automobile, quick, efficient transportation between his home, the links and his office.

There are very few courses in the entire country that are not accessible to the automobile and courses to which there is no other transportation save walking.

Golf, however, is not the only sport that has been benefited by the motor car. Name any sport, and it will owe much of its recent development to the automobile It is just a matter of a few moments to convince yourself of this.

Pass the baseball parks, visit the beaches, the tennis courts, in fact any place where sport is indulged in, and note the motor cars there.

The automobile itself, the greatest aid developed in modern business, offers a variety of sport that no one other thing could.

Nothing is more beneficial than a spin into the fresh, invigorating air, and physicians everwhere recommend motoring as a great aid to a healthy physical and mental condition. Thousands annually join the ranks of those who are enjoying the benefits of the motor car in all walks of life

THE CRIMINAL CODE AND THE AUTO OWNER

Provisions of the Federal Law That Affect Motorists—Do You Know Them?

The provisions of the Criminal Code of the Dominion, having particular relation to motor vehicles, are as follows:—

Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to two years imprisonment who having the charge of any carriage or motor vehicle, automobile or other vehicle by wanton or furious driving, or racing or other misconduct, or by wilful neglect, does or casues to be done, any bodily harm to any person.

Whenever, owing to the presence of a motor car on the highway an accident has occurred to any person, or to any horse or vehicle in charge of any person, any person driving the motor car shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding $50 and costs or to imprisonment for a term not exceeding 30 days, if he fails to stop his car, and with intent to escape liability, either civil or criminal, drives on without tendering assistance, and giving his name and address.

Every one who takes or causes to be taken from a garage stable stand or other building or place, any automobile or motor car with intent to operate or drive or use or cause or permit the same to be operated or driven or used, without the consent of the owner shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding $500 and costs, or to imprisonment for any term not exceeding 12 months or to both fine and imprisonment.

A Year For Theft

Every one who is found guilty of stealing any automobile or motor car shall be sentenced to not less than one year's imprisonment. Sentence in any such case shall not be suspended without the concurrence of the attorney-general or his agent, or of the counsel acting for the crown in the prosecution of the offender.

Every one who while intoxicated drives any motor vehicle or automobile shall be guilty of an offence and liable upon summary conviction for first offence to a term not exceeding 30 days, and not less than seven days; for second offence, for a term not exceeding three months and not less than one month, and for each subsequent offence for a term not exceeding one year and not less than three months.

MODERN MOTOR MOTTOES.

Still motors run sweet.

Home is where the cars is.

A soft tire turneth away cash.

While thede's gas there's hope.

Fools pass on hills and curves.

A wise driver maketh a glad auto.

It is better to be slow than sorry.

Declines make the wheels go faster.

Dry springs squeak louder than "birds."

To speed is human, to get caught, a fine.

As the wheel is bent so the car will go.

Where there's a nail there's a puncture.

A body's as old as its paint; a motor's as old as it pulls.

Spin and the world spins with you; stall and you stall alone.

CLEAN MUFFLER STEP FORWARD CAR EFFICIENCY

The Muffler Serves an Important Duty in the Operation of the Automobile

One of the parts of an automobile most neglected by many owners and drivers is the muffler. As a boy with a dirty face puts off the cleaning process just as long as possible, so the motorist with a muffler that needs attention procrastinates and thinks perhaps he will fix it up tomorrow. And tomorrow never comes. But today is always here with its greater use of gasoline and various other complications that a dirty muffler causes.

Let us consider the use of the muffler. The exhaust valve opens while the burned gas is still under a pressure of from twenty-five to thirty pounds per square inch. If this were exhausted directly into the air the resulting noise would stifle conversation in the car, annoy everybody along the street and quickly get the driver into trouble with the police. The muffler prevents all this. It provides a chamber in which these exhaust gases may expand and cool somewhat and at the same time break up the pressure by allowing it to leak out slowly through a number of very small holes, instead of letting it loose in one "big noise."

In the early history of the automobile mufflers were not used and everybody for blocks around knew when an auto was coming. As the automobiles increased in number this became a nuisance and was stopped by law. Then they sought, indeed had been seeking a means of stifling the sound. In the early muffler there was trouble because the gas would back up in the cylinder and decrease the power of the motor. It was thought there was no way to decrease the sound without decreasing the power; therefore the manufacturers devised a valve to "cut out" the muffler on the car whenever extra power was desired.

Sometimes the back pressure was so great as to interfere when driving through heavy roads or up hills. The 'cut out' let the gas exhaust directly into the air instead of going through the muffler. At the present time nearly every city has a law prohibiting the use of 'cut outs.'

As a matter of fact, those well posted on automobile engines understood today that the "cut-out" is absolutely unnecessary on a modern car if the muffler is kept in proper condition. Muffler manufacturers have been able to produce a design in which there is no back pressure at all. For this reason manufacturers discourage the use of the "cut out" on their cars, and some of them will no longer install one except as an "extra."

The average driver, however, does not know that his muffler needs as careful attention as any other part of the mechanism, and so he neglects it. In these days of noiseless cars it requires a great number of very small holes inside the muffler. These become clogged with soot or carbon from the exhaust. The deposit collects very rapidly, especially when the grade of oil used is poor or too much oil is used. It also results when the carburetor is adjusted to give too rich a mixture.

When these small openings become clogged the exhaust gases cannot escape readily, and naturally the cylinder of the engine is not cleaned at the exhaust stroke. Result: It is impossible to bring in a full cylinder of new gas on the next intake stroke There is not a full charge to explode, and this means a loss of power to the engine.

Cases are known where the throttle was opened wide without any increase in power. Trying to find out what the matter was, the driver opened the 'cut out" and this caused the machine to accelerate very rapidly.

In other cases when the engine was cranked there would be a few explosions, a sputter and a stop, and the reason was that the muffler was so clogged that it was impossible to exhaust the gas from these few explosions; the cylinder remained full of burned gas, and, of course, could not take in a further supply. These, of course, are extreme cases.

But even in these less serious cases it will often be found that the power of the motor may be materially increased by having the muffler cleaned yet it is seldom done, even when the car is supposed to be overhauled completely.

Care of Leather Upholstery

A very good leather dressing may be made of equal parts of glycerine and sweet oil. After applying with a cloth the dressing should remain on the leather for about twenty minutes after which the upholstery should be wiped dry. An ordinary cleaner for leather, a good soap and some water, should be used, applying the soapy water with a sponge and finishing with chamois skin.

MUST PREVENT OVERHEATING OF THE ENGINE

Every automobile owner or driver knows from experience that a gas engine becomes hot after running for some time. This is due to the explosions or rapid burning of the gas inside the cylinders.

A large percentage of the heat developed in the cylinder goes to heat up the cylinder walls, and if these cannot be cooled either by strong blasts of air or water circulation around them, they will become so hot that they will crack and break apart or at least become warped out of shape and become useless. By far the greater number of cars use what is known as the water cooling system, and therefore that is the only type discussed in this article.

The water flows around the cylinder walls and then through piping and rubber hose connections into the radiator, where it is spread out in thin sheets or small pipes, which have an immense amount of surface exposed to the air. In this manner the water is cooled, and then flows back to the engine in order to keep it also cooled to the proper temperature.

If any part of the cooling system fails to function properly, the cylinders are not cooled, and we say that the engine overheats. Water, as we know, cannot be heated above 213 degrees F. without being placed under pressure. Therefore, the water which flows around the cylinder walls cannot be heated above this temperature. If the water is not kept slightly below this temperature it will rapidly evaporate by boiling. If the engine is run without water in the water jacket the cylinder walls will be heated above their normal temperature, with the result that the oil will be entirely burned off the cylinder wall surface and the piston will begin to cut small slots lengthwise on the walls with the result that often the engine will in a few minutes' time, be seriously damaged.

In order that the cooling system work properly, we must have the following conditions.

Plenty of water, free circulation of water thoughout the entire system, freedom from scale in the radiator, and a strong current of air passing continuously through the radiator to cool the water.

AUTOMOBILE IS TRUE FRIEND OF PROGRESS

Savages Do Not Motor! The Most Progressive People Do—There's The Difference

Every time you see an automobile pause and remember you are seeing an asset to the community. It represents home-making, a vast pay-roll, the upkeep of thousands of families, and the pro-creator of industry in every conceivable line, that has to do with money, that is made and spent here. Erroneously, by people that know nothing about it, the auto is regarded as a sort of plaything, a pleasant affair to whizz one about, and a gimcrack, designed to startle pedestrians and carry around opulent folk who are too lazy to walk. All of which is an ingorant misunderstanding of the truth about the automobile. When one really understands the auto, and realizes its sterling value as a necessity, convenience and comfort, then is its true worth assayed. Like the testing and providing of friendships, the automobile, as the truest friend of progress, needs knowing before it is really understood.

Motor Heralds Progress.

In the back woods, they do not have autos. Neither do they have libraries. Or real music. Or the latest adjuncts to civilization. In the darkest regions of the jungles, they do not have autos, either, but prefer to trek, barefooted, over thorny trails and worship man-made deities, while they subsist upon their fellow flesh In dark days, and through the trend of feudalism, the motive power was the horse for the baron and the clogs for the yokel. In those days the mere prophecy of the horseless carriage would establish eligibility for the village stocks or the village ducking-stool as a penalty for wizardry or witchcraft. Darkness, ignorance, primitiveness, are all on the side of the people that "have no use for the auto," while intelligence, progress and civilized advancement are the forces that make the motor go, and do its part in mankind's progression. For the same reason that the best, the most intelligent, the most advanced folk now own and operate autos, it stands to reason that there is a sensible cause for the popularity of the motor car. Savages do not motor The most progressive people do. There is the difference! Draw between the extremes, and see who stand in the middle. They are the non-autoists; people who are conditioned to be in that class, or others who prefer it that way.

THE GLARING HEADLIGHT IS A NUISANCE

Twilight Period Worst for Driving—Proper Focus and Direction Worth Attention

The greatest known test on a good disposition is when that good disposition is inside the driver of an automobile and the car is out on a country road at night meeting hundreds of machines whose drivers do not have the courtesy to dim their lights. There is no discomfort in driving to beat being constantly blinded by the glare of powerful lights of a car approaching from the opposite direction.

In all walks of life there are the considerate and the inconsiderate But the latter are more conspicious when they drive automobiles at night. They consider it too much trouble to be constantly dimming their lights when the machines they meet are numerous. Consequently they get out of the habit altogether even when they meet cars on the road only occasionally.

Electric Lighting System

The electric lighting system of an automobile is generally of the form in which the current is obtained from a battery which is kept charged by a dynamo. The main lights of a system are two large white lights in front which are supposed to deflect the beams of light to the ground, the theory being that a strong stream of light will be thrown on the road ahead, but will not reach the height of the eyes of the driver of another car or even of a pedestrian who may be walking on the highway.

While lenses may accomplish this desirable result if the bulb is focused properly, that is, the right distance from the reflector, its position is made adjustable so that the light can be focused in several directions. The vibration of a car might jar the light out of focus on some cars or the light might be focused wrong by an inexperienced or incompetent driver.

Another light in the system is the red tail light. It is now possible to thrown the word stop on a red tail light which in the night gives the warning to those following that the car is slowing down, as the extended hand gives such a warning in the day time. Some cars are also equipped with two extra white side lights in front for use in city driving where the regular large lights are not needed.

The strongest kind of light fixtures on a car may get bent if a car is run into, so that the beams of light point upward instead of down on the road. After such an accident the owner of a car should carefully inspect his lights to see that they are still properly focussed and point correctly.

One reason why some drivers do not dim their lights when meeting cars is because of the number of cars on the road and the location of the dimming control switch. This condition keeps a driver constantly leaning forward to make the adjustment and detracts his attention somewhat from the driving wheel. However when driving in the country where dimmed lights are most important the cars that are met in the night are not apt to be so numerous but that the courtesy of dimming lights is practiced.

Lights should be turned on one-half hour after sundown. While the first hour after this time the lights are practically valueless, care should be exercised nevertheless to turn on the dimmed lights. This twilight period is the worst time of the day for driving, for it is too light to make the lamps of any great use and too dark to see the road ahead clearly.

A spot light, although against the law in some states, has its good points in night driving in the country. Its beams can be thrown ahead of the regular headlight beams, giving the the additonal distance of illumination on the road to permit driving safely at a fair rate of speed. When meeting a car the headlights can be dimmed and the spot light thrown to the right to illuminate the ditch on that side.

DEFECTIVE INNER TUBES WILL RUIN THE BEST TIRES.

A defective tube will ruin the best tire. Just as it's the heart that keeps the body going, so it's the tube that keeps the casing up. A man would certainly not select a weak heart because it was cheap, but you would want the best. So the motorist should purchase the tire that will best prolong the life of the casings. The better the tube one buys the greater assurance one has of full and satisfactory service from his casing. A good casing is terribly handicapped with a defective worn-out tube.

MOLASSES ON A STICK PROTECTS GASOLINE USERS

Little dabs of cheap molasses on plain pine sticks in the hands of 61 oil inspectors in Minnesota have saved users of gasoline thousands of dollars during the past year, according to Hjalmar Nilsson, state oil inspector, Incidentally this simple test for discovering water in gasoline has gone out from Minnesota to a dozen other states.

On the theory that water is heavier than gasoline and always sinks to the bottom, Mr. Nilsson devised the simple test a year ago. A stick dipped in cheap molasses glides through gasoline without showing any effect on the molasses. But when water is encountered the molasses comes off the stick. When the stick is withdrawn the exact amount of water in the bottom of the tank is clearly revealed.

Taxicab owners operating in New York, Buffalo, and Rochester will be required after July 1 to file with the state tax commission a personal bond with two sureties, a surety bond or an insurance policy for $2,500 to insure payment of any judgment recovered for death or injury to persons or property caused in operation of the machine. The bond must contain a provision for continuing liability notwithstanding any recovery.

WHAT PRESS AGENTS SAY

CARPENTIER AND LEWIS ON SCREEN

Edmonton Fans Get Chance to See if the Winning Blow Was a Foul

A program of great interest is promised at the Allen theatre next week, starting Monday, when there will be three outstanding numbers on the bill. Motion pictures of the heavyweight championship battle between Georges Carpentier and Ted Lewis, will be shown for the first time in the west; the second round of "The Leather Pushers," and Mabel Normand in "Head Over Heels," complete a card that would be hard to equal.

Films of important boxing bouts are always interesting for they give the spectators a really better opportunity to see the battles than if they were at the ringside. Usually half a dozen cameras are placed at vantage points and when the films are assembled the full benefit of the views from half a dozen pairs of eyes, is given to the public.

However, on this occasion even more interest is attached to the films than ordinarily because of the dispute which ensued following the sensational knockout in the first round. The knockout itself was a surprise, but to have it come so fast was even greater. Then there was the claim made that the knockout punch was a foul blow, struck by Carpentier while the referee was holding Lewis' hands.

The day following the bout the story was cabled to this country that the films of the fight showed that there was a foul blow struck. Whether this is correct or not, judges of boxing can see for themselves when the pictures are screened at the Allen next week. The film is 1,000 feet in length, considerable of the footage being of the scrap itself, for every foot of film 'shot" at that time is literally worth its weight in gold. Both of the boxers will be shown in their training quarters.

The pictures of the fight of the age will be shown on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

"PAID IN FULL" GREAT DRAMA AT THE METRO

Eugene Waller's Famous Success Will Be Attraction for Next Week

When Eugene Walter, then an unknown playwright, wrote "Paid in Full" some years ago, he little thought that his brain child would prove a Broadway sensation, enjoying a run of record dimensions while numbers 1, 2 and 3 were touring the provinces. The drama, which is one of starting climaxes and affords every member of the cast a chance to show his or her histrionic ability, has been selected as the next attraction at the Metropolitan theatre, and will be given a splendid presentation by Miss Ruth Saville, Alexis B. Luce and the Metropolitan Players. "Paid in Full" will be repeated every evening next week, with the usua matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

The play deals with the rise and fall of a book-keeper in a shipping firm, and his salvation from the opened gates of the penitentiary through his wife's faith and fearlessness. Joe Brooks, working for Capt. Williams, head of the steamship line, is impatient to get along, and cannot wait for the promotion that will come in due time. Blessed with a wonderful wife, Emma Brooks, and with a true friend, Jimsey Smith, who had been his rival for Emma's hand, and who still loved both in brotherly style, Joe cannot curb his dissatisfaction. He yearns for an apartment in a fashionable hotel, and for all the other luxuries that cannot be secured on his meagre income.

Temptation is placed in his way and he starts to steal from his employer. Lulled by the fact that his thefts go undiscovered he starts to take bigger amounts and finally he has the coveted apartment, tailored clothes for himself and Paris creations for his wife whom he tells he has secured the money by fortunate speculations. Jimsey discovers his friend's misdoings and begs him to confess and throw himself on the mercy—if any—of the gruff employer, Capt. Williams. And unknown to all, Capt. Williams is also in the secret and is merely biding his time.

Finally the denouement arrives and Brooks, a craven at heart, and knowing Capt. Williams' past record, begs his wife to go and plead his case. Jimsey also goes to see the captain, but in advance, warning him that if any harm comes to Emma, that death will be his fate.

Seldom on the speaking stage has such a powerful scene been staged than the third act of "Paid in Full" when the captain, after deluding everybody, proves that behind his rough interior and despite his harsh reputation, is a man, every inch of him.

The cast for "Paid in Full" is as follows: Joe Brooks, Ray Whittaker; Emma rooks, Ruth Saville; Jimsey Smith, Alexis B. Luce; Capt. Williams, Wm. Abram; Mrs. Harris, Miss Robinson; Beth Harris, Miss Lee; Sato, Clifford Dunstan.

JUST LIKE HIM

A young man had to go abroad and before he went he was saying goodbye to his sweetheart.

"Darling," he said, "when I am far away will you gaze on that star every night and think of me?"

"Dearest, I will," she answered. "That star is so full of your nature that it will always remind me most wonderfully of you."

"Why is that?" asked the young man.

"Because it is out so very late at night and looks so pale in the morninig!"

"CAMILLE" ON BIG SCALE AT THE EMPIRE

Verna Felton and the Allen Players Prepare Real Dramatic Treat

Ever since Miss Verna Feton and the Allan Players moved over to the New Empire theatre for their summer engagement they have been qietly preparing, in addition to their current vehicles, for a production of "Camille" that could not be excelled by any road show that ever filled Edmonton dates. Costumes of the period have been secured and the scenic artists have been working night and day to turn out sets that will be a joy to the eye. It is the intention of Manager P. R. Allan to make next week's presentation of "Camille" the best thing the Allen Players have done in Edmonton, and while not boasting, he quietly remarks that patrons are in for a treat.

The famous Sarah Benhardt, probably the greatest actress the world has ever known, has one favorite drama, and that is "Camille" In fact when one thinks of "Camille" the illustrious Sarah is always brought to mind. It has always been the outstanding play of her extensive repertoire and during her American tours was generally featured in every large city visited. The plot of "Camille" is familiar to all, the great love of "Camille", and her dramatic death making it a real drama that calls for the highest pinnacle of artistry.

Miss Verna Felton, who will be seen in the name part, is no stranger to the role, and some of her greatest successes have been scored as "Camille". A dramatic actress of no mean ability Miss Felton's admirers will be in their glory next week "Camille" call for a particularly big cast and in addition to the members of the Allen Players, nearly all of Edmonton's amateur talent will be seen on the stage.

After their three day's vacation, much of which time was spent in studying the lines for next week's production, the Allen Players will resume their continous engagement at New Empire theatre on Monday "Camille" will be repeated every evening, and there will be the usual Thursday and Saturday matinees. It would be well to reserve seats in advance.

NEW PLAYERS JOIN CAST AT METROPOLITAN

Fred Sullivan and Kathryn Card in Play Commencing on July 24

Mr. Fred Sullivan and Miss Kathryn Card will join the Metropolitan Players, opening their engagement on Monday, July 24th. Mr. Fred Sullivan will appear in the leading role, "The Stranger," in Sir Johnston Forbes Robertson's greatest masterpiece, "The Passing of the Third Floor Back." Sir Forbes Robertson placed this piece on every visit he made to this country, which speaks for the play itself. It is a type character rarely found only among the very best actors of today, and it requires more than just merely reading of lines; it calls for something extraordinary, which even the writer is at a loss to explain. This play has never been played in stock, if ever, except where there is an actor of the type of Sir Johnston Forbes Robertson, which we claim in all sincerity Mr. Fred Sullivan is. We make this assertion believing every theatregoer will agree. Mr. Fred Sullivan will long be remembered by those who are fortunate enough to witness one of his performances, as being one of the finest pieces of acting ever done here. The following are a few extracts from the Vancouver papers of Mr. Fred Sullivan's work there with the Empress Players: "Which One Shall I Marry?"—Fred Sullivan, as the book agent, is splendid and combines an air of mysticism with that of a simple and good old man in a beautiful manner."

"The Yellow Ticket,"—Fred Sullivan gave a convincing presentation of the difficult role of Baron Stephen Audrey. Mr. Sullivan's enunciation is a pleasure. May his example never grow less on the Empress stage.

"The Only Son"—"Mr. Sullivan is thoroughly artistic in his interpretation of the part of the captain of industry. His cultured voice and dignified elocution are models for the study of less experienced stock actors. Mr. Sullivan gave a studied characterization, the better appreciated on account of his fine elocution."

"Samson"—"Mr. Fred Sullivan, as Maurice Brachard, the stock exchange copper king, was the brilliant shining star. His work throughout was masterly, more particularly in the dramatic passages. Never once did he fall into the trap so often associated with dramatic scenes, of raising his voice. Always soft and deliberate, his enunciation was perfect and altogether his work was a treat to hear and see." "Fred Sullivan in the role of Maurice Brachard, found instant favor with the audience. His part demanded keen dramatic expressions, and his interpretation was never found lacking."

"Madame X"—"Fred Sullivan in the role of Louis Floriot, provided excellent support and his fine acting aroused an appreciable response from the audience." He handled the part with true dramatic instinct."

The foregoing will give the Edmonton theatregoers an idea of Mr. Fred Sullivan's acting while at Vancouver. There can be no doubt of the sterling performance he will give in "The Passing of the Third Floor Back."

Paris, July 14—The committee on guarantees of the reparations commission is returning to Paris from Berlin Sunday and a special meeting of the commission has been called for Monday to receive the committee's report on the financial situation in Germany and on the extent to which the German government has put into effect the financial reforms demanded by the commission.

There will be no session of the commission before Monday. It is expected that several sessions will be required to give full consideration to the committee's report, upon which the commission's decision concerning a moratorium for Germanylargely will be based.

"CAMILLE" AT THE NEW EMPIRE ALL NEXT WEEK

Miss Felton Will Have One of Her Favorite Casts for Portrayal

The Allen Players at the New Empire theatre are in line with the revival of the best shows that are taking place all over the American continent, in England and parts of Europe, and to this end they ahe producing "Camille" as their play for the whole of next week, with the usual matinees Thursday and Saturday. Incidentally it may be said that "Camille" is being played next week in New York, Boston, San Francisco and Mexico City, all by stock companies. This from information received by Lee Millar, who is directing the offering at the New Empire.

It was Sarah Bernhardt, immortal herself, who made "Camille" immortal, so far as the stage is concerned. She made Camille herself, studied her, and presented her to the people of the world in the person the world read her to be. It has been the ambition of every stage woman who boasts of character portrayals to do as well, and some of the best critics have admitted that Verna Felton has at least, to use a golf term, made a good approach. She has done Camille upon a number of occasions in other cities, and everywhere has been most favorably received. She has seen the famous Sarah do the part and received an education there; so that her interpretation next week gives her opportunities that few women of the stage possess.

Miss Felton will have opposite her Allan Strickfadden as Armand, as ardent a lover as was ever written into a stage character. Mr. Strickfadden, too, knows his character, and has played it before to the approval of competent critics.

Bernhardt played the last act of "Camille" here about eight years ago during a tour of the Orpheum circuit when it was at the old Empire. That wonderful last act which she did still lingers in the minds of Edmontonians who will be only too anxious to see their most popular stock player in the entire life of the character. Bookings for the engagement are already heavy, and the New Empire looks forward to a bumper house all week.

Turk Nationalist Cabinet Resigns

Angora, July 14—The Turkish Nationalist cabinet resigned yesterday as a result of the adoption by the Angora assembly of a new law providing nomination of executive council shall be made by parliament as a whole instead of by the presidential national assembly.

The national assembly has elected a new cabinet, in which Reof Bey succeeds Feizi Pasha as prime minister. Four ministers of the old cabinet were re-elected. The unionists or the extremist party won three seats in the new combination.

The new law was designed to curtail the powers of Mustapha Kemal Pasha.

"Waal, I guess it was the French pheasants singing the Mayonnaise!" replied the waiter.

BEAUTY OF THE SCREEN AT ALLEN

Katherine Macdonald in "The Beautiful Liar" Comes to the Allen

"The Beautiful Liar," an Associated First National attraction starrin Katherine MacDonald, the "American Beauty of the screen," is to be the attraction at the Allen theatre for three days, starting next Thursday. The picture is acknowledged to be the best that this talented actress has produced thus far.

"The Beautiful Liar" depicts the adventures and misadventures which befell Helen Haynes, a stenographer, when she yielded to temptation and agreed to impersonate an actress, Elsie Parmelee. Her motives were pure, for in doing so she would be able to save Gaston Allegretti, manager of a famous summer resort hotel, from discharge. And all that she was to get out of it was a two weeks' vacation at the hotel.

She did not know that the actress who was expected to go to the hotel, was to play a part in a play, and she was on the verge of fleeing when she discovered that she was expected to do so. At that point, however, she discovered that Bobby Bates, with whom she had fallen in love—to his ignorance—was to play the part of the leading man. That caused her to change her mind rapidly and she continued her imposter role.

The sudden return of the real Elsie Parmelee provided complications which neither Helen nor the others in the plot had anticipated. But eventually matters were straightened out and Helen did not regret having taken part in the conspiracy, for through it she found true love and happiness.

"SISTERS" IS NEXT FEATURE AT EMPRESS

All-Star Cast Will Present the Screen Version of Famous Story

From the records of our divorce courts it would appear that there are many unhappy marriages but most marriage troubles are trivial and could be avoided if the contracting parties would be level headed. How one woman emphasised the fact that marriage can be made for the best is clearly shown in "Sisters" a motion picture version of the famous novel by Kathleen Norris, which will open its local engagement at the Empress theatre starting next Monday.

"Sisters" is the story of a misunderstanding brought about by the love of an elder sister for a man who had been in love with the younger sister. It is a lavish production of an every-day problem and is enacted with a cast featuring Seena Owen, Matt Moore and Gladys Leslie. It tells a plain story of an older sister, devoted to her father, who wants to see her younger sister happy, and believes the end is accomplished when she marries the man of her choice and goes away with him. A friend of the family, had been in love with the younger girl, and he leaves for a world trip, to forget.

He later returns, after the death of the father of the girls, and marries the older sister. His love is quiet, reserved and theirs is a happy life. The younger sister, however, leaves her husband, comes back home and the sight of the young girl revives the love in the heart of the former lover, now the husband of the sister.

Then begins the struggle. The romance is carried on practically under the nose of the wife, and the selfish younger sister would wreck three lives to gain happiness—or at least what she thinks is happiness.—The wife learns of the romance and determines to break it. Here fate intervenes and takes hold of the situation and eventually straightens it out.

The husband is humiliated and humbled by the splendor of his wife's courage and tragedy is averted.

Secrets of the Movies Revealed

Q.—How was the effect of the flood produced in the climax of the picture "The Town That Forgot God?"

A.—Fifteen railroad tanks, each of 5,000 gallons capacity were emptied and refilled six times to produce the flood in "The Town That Forgot God." The village was built at the foot of a hill, along the top of which ran a railroad spur. A system of hose carried the water up to the inlet of a moat built around the village, and the entire seventy-five thousand gallons of water were turned loose into the moat at one time. The work of construction took ten weeks.

Q.—What movie star has received an offer to appear in pictures in Portugal?

A.—Eugene O'Brien has received a tempting offer to go to Portugal for pictures, but is considering a contract for the speaking stage.

Q.—What picture producer spent six years among the Esquimos of Baffins Land?

A.—Robert J. Flaherty, producer of "Nanook of the North," lived among the Esquimos from 1912 to 1918.

Q.—What star has the leading female role in "Broken Chains," the story that won the $10,000 prize?

A.—Claire Windsor has the leading part in the prize play "Broken Chains."

Q.—What author whose stories have been done on the screen was once an Episcopalian minister?

A.—Basil King, author of "The Dust Flower," was at one time minister of a church in Cambridge, Mass.

What large producing company has founded a school and stock company for the training of screen actors? This new departure in movie circles is one of greatest importance. Read about it in this column in our next issue.

GOOD STEERING IS ESSENTIAL TO "SAFETY FIRST"

Play in Gear Makes Guidance of Automobile Somewhat Uncertain at Times

Good steering is the first essential of safety first in the motor car, and yet, strange as it may seem, the average car does not have this vital feature. In most cars there is more or less play in some part of the steering system and this inevitably makes steering uncertain.

The steering system consists of the following parts: the wheel which the driver uses in guiding the car. The post to which this wheel is attached and at the bottom of which is a reduction gearing. This gearing makes it easy to change the direction of the car, by means of what is known as a steering arm. This in turn is connected with a drag link, which extends forward to meet the left steering wheel knuckle arm. The left steering knuckle ... is connected with a similar part on the right by means of a tie rod.

The first operation in keeping the steering system operating correctly is to keep the joints well packed with grease, or graphite and grease mixed half and half. The housing which holds the reduction gears at the bottom of the column or post should be packed with grease at least three times a year. The ball joints at one end of the drag link must be kept lubricated and these require frequent attention because the grease leaks away from them rapidly, no cover being provided. The ends of the tie rod are usually fitted with bolts and these also must be lubricated. The steering knuckle pins must have regular attention.

It must be remembered that there is constant motion in all the various units of the steering system, whenever the car is moving. Every vibration produces motion in the steering parts and the need for effective lubrication is evident.

Hard Results

If the steering knucke pins, or king pins, as they are often called, are allowed to become dry, there is a certain amount of binding and hard stering results. The knuckle pins should be oiled every day, or every two weeks if graphite is used.

When play in the steering system has once developed, it multiplies very quickly. Play gives a chance for friction and excessive wear, which is fatal to accurate and easy steering. By keeping all the connections in the steering system tight and well lubricated, this condition is prevented before it gets a chance to become serious.

In adjusting the steering system to compensate for wear, the car owner should be sure of the location of the trouble. For instance if wear has occured in the steering knuckle pins, it is useless to try and compensate for it by adjusting the steerings gears. If the drag link is bent, which causes stiff steering, there is no point in doing anything except straighten the injured member.

Jack up Wheels

In making adjustments it is good practice to jack up the two front wheels, make the different adjustments and try each one as it is made. With the whee's raised the drag link or the rod may be disconnected to locate the exact part needing adjustment.

There is always an adjusting nut for stering system out of proper working condition. For instance wheel out of alignment cause hard steering at the same time that it is inducing excessive tire wear. The front tires should be kept fully inflated. The habit of many drivers of striking the curb hard with the front wheels is a great mistake. Such a bump is likely to throw the wheels out of alignment. This matter of the alignment of the front wheels should be checked up at least twice a year.

Finally the car owner should remember ... bushing that carries the steering post. If there is excessive wear in this part the wheel will rattle and the only remedy is a new bushing. This bushing lies between the outer shell and the post.

ROAD CONSTRUCTION COSTS.

Dealing with the question of cost of road reconstruction at the recent Transport Congress in London, Col. C. H. Bressey stated that "no one questions that roads of the United Kingdom need reconstructing." Considering resurfacing only, however, and assuming that the existing foundations can be relied on, he suggested 10s a yard super. as a possible average cost in the future. This figure was based to some extent on successful work at Hornsey, Sheffield, etc., with a clinger asphalt which, laid 2 inches thick, cost from 9s to 12s per yard super. Taking the 10sc. figure and assuming a carriage-way 20 feet wide, it worked out at some £6,000 per mile run. The total length of first-class roads in the country, according to the Ministry of Transport's list, is 22,150 miles, so that the total cost of resurfacing would be about £133,000,000. Assuming that second-class roads could be re-surfaced for 7s 6d per yard super, the 14,419 miles would cost £65,00,000, so that the total for the two classes would amount to £198,000,000. If this sum were borrowed at 5 per cent. and made repayable in seven years, it would represent an annual charge of £34,000,000, which might be compared with the total yield of £10,000,000 last year from the tax on mechanically-propelled vehicles. The purpose of these figures was mainly to illustrate the magnitude of the problem which the roads presented. The matter was accentuated by the fact that these calculations allowed nothing for the 140,727 miles of third class road which represented by far the greater proportion of the total length.—Engineering (London).

MAKERS SEEKING GREATER POWER FROM GASOLINE

New Cars Are Equipped With Devices to Obtain Better Service From Gasoline

Every motor car manufacturer is offering in his 1922 product what he considers an excellent device for getting the greatest possible power kick out of the kind of gas a car has to swallow these days.

The poor gas problem is one which has grown with the motor industry. The first few "horseless carriages" puffed along on a fluid that was so volatile under ordinary atmospheric conditions that it was readily combustible. Now that the use of cars has increased to the extent that the tremendous increase in the demand for gasoline must be met by cutting lower into the crude oil.

Gasoline distilled today contains much that was known as high grade kerosene a few years ago. It is an indication of the progress made in cars that they hum over the hills on the fuel and sputter as little as they do on cold days. That's where the more miles a gallon engineering is showing results.

Proper combustion, in addition to its results in acceleration and mileage affects lubrication because unburned raw gasoline leaking into the crank case thins the oil.

The ambition of the modern motor engineer is to introduce into the combustion chamber the most rapidly burning fuel possible. When the fuel enters in drops only the external surface of the drop is exposed to the spark. It is necessary to exaporate the drops into a vapor before combustion is complete. If fuel can be reduced to a true gas, that is still better. Even with the best carburetor now obtainable the gasoline is only partly vaporized.

It would be simple to apply enough heat to make this fuel into a true gas, but another difficulty enter here. As the gas is heated it expands, it becomes "thinner" there is less power in a given volume. The combustion chamber is not getting as many heat units as it should.

Intake manifolds are being designed now to give just the right amount of heat to vaporize the last drop of gasoline without overheating the vapor. Heat usually is applied only to the liquid fuel. One of the two main methods used permits the liquid to touch a hot plate over which the vaporized fuel passes without coming into contact. Another series of hot spot devices uses a settling chamber into which the heavier particles drop to be heated.

Most hot spot devices consider another trait of the stubborn little drop of gasoline—clinging to the dry wall of the intake manifold and thus sneaking into the combustion chamber without being vaporized. The most popular way of offsetting that is to shape the intake manifold so that there is a sharp corner in the internal wall. The unsuspecting drop of gas creeps along the wall until it reaches the corner. There the rush of vaporized gas into the manifold gets a sweep at it. It is as if the drop had stepped around the corner of a skyscrapper into a windstorm and it is hurled off into space.

Applications of these general principals in this year's car include a combination manifold and carburetor with heat, a corrugated interior surface of a manifold heated from the exhaust, an intake passage surrounded on practically all sides by the exhaust, a manifold arrangement controlled by a damper which shunts exhaust heat around the intake, thermostatic carbureter control, a "fuelizer" which heats gasoline and air from the carburetor and makes it enter the combustion chamber as a dry gas, and many other devices.

TWO MASTERS

A Korean who had been in mission service for a number of years was at last discovered to have two wives—a very common practice in Korea. It was the duty of the mission board to admonish the bigamist and persuade him to put away his second wife. The Korean demanded a Bible statement to the effect that his course was sinful. The Bible was ransacked, but for a time fruitlessly. Finally a devout Korean brother produced a text that he announced was indisputable evidence that two wives were contrary to Bible theology, and thereupon read: "No man can serve two masters."

SURVIVAL OF THE UNFIT

Earl Fortescue, in his presidential address to the congress of the Royal Institute of Public Health, at Plymouth, said there was a doubt whether their energy and expenditure had been wisely directed.

It was a question whether, instead of improving the general average health of the people, they had not in some respects lowered it by keeping alive sickly babies and rickety youths and young women, who instead of dying as in the old days, before they could do any harm, had now, thanks to the fatherly care of the state, lived just long enough to marry and beget off-spring full of hereditary taints and weaknesses.

EGYPTIAN MIRRORS.

A French scientist has interested the Academy of Sciences in his researches concerning the glass mirrors that were used in ancient times in Thrace and Egypt. They were backed with a highly polished metal, the nature of which has been in question. The scientist referred to has discovered that the metal was almost pure lead, and he believes that method of manufacture was to pour the molten lead on the concave surface of disks cut from balloons of blown glass. In consequence of their shape mirrors minimized the images of objects looked at in them.

OLD SERGEANTS INN.

Old Sergeants' Inn, at the Fleet street end of Chancery lane, London, dates back to the time of Henry IV., but some chroniclers say that the sergeants only went there in 1730, when they quitted Sergeants' Inn on the south side of Fleet street. The Inn, save and except the dining-hall, was rebuilt in 1837-8, but forty years later the inn itself was broken up, and the buildings have ever since been used as offices. Old Sergeants' Inn has Clifford's Inn as a near neighbor, being only separated from it by an iron gateway.

ANARCHIST FIRES SHOTS AT FRENCH PREFECT OF POLICE

Thought That Official Was President Millerand, Whose Life He Was Seeking

Paris, July 14—Three shots were fired today at Prefect of Police Naudin, by Gustave Bouvet, an anarchist well known to the police, in the belief that it was President Millerand at whom he was aiming. None of the shots took effect.

The shots were fired while the parade was passing along the Champs Elysees at the corner of the avenue Marigny. The assailant was standing behind a woman and the flare from the revolver scorched her dress.

The dense crowd around was at first terrified by the shots. Then it turned upon the man who had fired and he was being beaten by the enraged spectators when the police came up and seized him.

Bouvet said to the police: "It was at the carriage of the president of the republic I intended firing. However, I did not wish to kill anyone. I wished only to make a demonstration that would attract attention to the condition of the proletariat."

Bouvet has been active in communistic and anarchistic circles. He formerly was secretary of an extremist society and was sentenced to a year in prison for circulating anarchistic propaganda and instigating violence.

The attack took place as President Millerand and the prefect were riding in the procession homeward from Longchamps, where a military review was held this forenoon in celebration of Bastille Day.

Strike Call Issued To 8,000 U.S. Railway Employees Says Healy

Chicago, July 14.—A strike call to the 8,000 stationary firemen, engineers and oilers, employed on railroads throughout the United States, has been issued, Timothy Healy, international president of the organization, said today.

The strike is effective next Monday, July 17, at 8 a.m. The call was made in compliance with the recent referendum, which favored a walkout, Mr. Healy said.

Stationary firemen and oilers on several roads had already joined in a sympathetic walkout with the railway shop crafts.

"We are into the fight and we intend to win," Mr. Healy said.

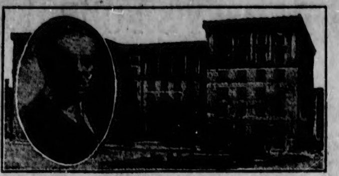
MONTREAL'S BOARD OF TRADE TO SEE THE WEST



MONTREAL'S BOARD OF TRADE BUILDING AND W. BIRKS, PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD

It is not long since the Western members of the Federal Parliament paid a visit to Quebec Province, going to Montreal and Quebec City, where they had a chance of seeing for themselves something of Eastern Canada's great industries, and the big seaports through which so much of the foreign trade of this country flows. They were tremendously interested in what they saw, and at the luncheon given them at the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec, several of their spokesmen voiced the hope that some of Eastern Canada's leaders in business and in public affairs would return the visit by journeying across the country to get a first-hand acquaintance with the West and its problems.

This return visit has in some measure already been arranged. On September first a large number of the members of Montreal's Board of Trade, accompanied by their wives, will set out on an extended tour that will include the Pacific Coast. Other similar tours may be arranged later on, and all of them, like that of the Montreal Board of Trade will make for the binding together of East and West, and the creation in each section of the country of a better understanding of the problems with which other localities are faced.

The itinerary of this important tour is, in a general way, as follows:—The party will leave Montreal by special C.P.R. train at 11 p.m., September 1, for Port McNicoll, via Toronto. Here the party will board a C.P.R. steamer for Sault Ste. Marie and Port Arthur, arriving at the latter place at 7 a.m., Monday, September 4, where another special C.P.R. train will be waiting. The next day the party will be the guests of the Kenora Board of Trade, and Wednesday will be spent at Winnipeg at the Royal Alexandra Hotel. The party will visit Regina and Moose Jaw, September 7, Bassano September 8, and Calgary September 8, arriving at Banff on the morning of September 9th. Saturday and Sunday will there be spent in drives and outings that will include visits to the many points of interest in this wonderful part of the Canadian Pacific Rockies.

During the following week the party will successively visit Lake Louise, Glacier, Albert Canyon, Revelstoke on Sept. 12, Arrowhead, Nelson, Sept. 13, Penticton Sept. 14, Okanagan and Sicamous Sept. 15, and on Saturday Sept. 16th they will arrive at Vancouver, where Sunday and Monday will be spent at the C. P. R. Hotel Vancouver. The party will here go aboard a C. P. R. Empress steamer for Victoria, where Wednesday, Sept. 20th, will be spent.

Next day the party will leave by steamer for the 550 mile trip up the coast to Prince Rupert, from where a special train will, on Sunday Sept. 24th, start the return trip east. The return will be by way of Edmonton, which will be reached on Sept. 26th. From there East the itinerary will be as follows: Sept 27, Saskatoon, Sask.; Sept. 28th, Winnipeg; Sept. 29th, Cochrane, Ont.; Haileybury, Cobalt, North Bay; Sept, 30th, Ottawa and Montreal.

INSURGENTS IN IRELAND ACCUSED OF VANDALISM

Irregulars Carry on Campaign Of Destruction Says National Official Report

Dublin, July 14—Charges of vandalism are made against the insurgent forces in an official statement issued today from the headquarters of the National army. "Since the operations by the national army in the south and west began," says the statement, "the irregulars have carried on an extensive campaign of destruction and the seizure of private property. The effects of this campaign have not been to hamper materially the operations of the army, but to inflict serious losses and in many cases, occasion great hardship and privation to the civilian population.

"This is particularly so in the areas in which the irregulars are found in force. The railways have been destroyed, the roads rendered impassable, the people driven from their homes and vehicles and foodstuffs seized generally. The result of this policy in certain districts has been to wreak havoc on the economic life of the people and to bring the social and commercial activity of the community to a state of disorder and stagnation."

SHOPMEN ASK CONCILIATION ON WAGE CUTS

Cuts Which Range From Five Cents to Nine Cents an Hour Affect 40,000

Montreal, July 14—Railway shopmen on Canadian lines have applied for a conciliation board in connection with the wage cuts which the Railway Association of Canada have announced will become operative on Sunday. The cuts, which range from five to nine cents an hour, affect 40,000 men in car and locomotive departments.

A strong protest was also issued this morning by divisions No. 4 wage schedule committee which conducted the negotiations against the attitude taken by the railway companies. The announcement that the cuts will become operative next Sunday is deplored, such action, if carried through, being styled as illegal and a contravention of clause 57 of the industrial disputes investigation act, which states that in the event of the proposed wage changes resulting in dispute, neither of the parties shall alter conditions of employment with respect to wages or hours until the dispute has been finally dealt with by that board and a copy of its report furnished by the registrar to both parties.

On behalf of the railways it was claimed the action of the Railway Association amounted only to a temporary withholding of a part of employees' wages subject to further negotiations.

Seek Relatives Of Man Who Died at The Pas, Man.

Provincial police here have been unable so far to locate the relatives of Robert Roberts, who died a few days ago in The Pas, Man., and Inspector Piper, of the local headquarters, asks that if the mother of the deceased and the two brothers who are supposed to reside a short distance from Strathcona, according to a wire received from The Pas, see this notice they are asked to communicate with the A.P.P. here at once.

There were no details in the wire recived by Inspector Piper from The Pas. It simply stated that Robert Roberts died there and that his mother ad two brothers reside near Strathcona and that the disposition of the body could not be attended to until they were heard from.

The inspector has wired to The Pas for further particulars and for a verification of the name.

A further wire at 2 o'clock Friday from the Provincial Police at The Pas gives the information that a marriage certificate found amongst the possessions of the deceased stated that his father's name was Robert Roberts and that his mother's maiden name was Philenda Butler.

THE U.S. COAL OUTLOOK

A Washington press despatch says: The government is urging miners and operators to consider the proposal of arbitration with all possible speed, because of fast dwindling coal reserves, which already have forced railways to discontinue many trains. Already many industries have felt the pinch of a shortage, and reports state that in the middle western states farmers cannot obtain sufficient coal to thresh their wheat.

BRING REPORT OF DISCOVERY OF LONG LOST MINE

Two Men Reach Schreiber With Story and Leave Again After Getting Supplies

Fort William, July 14.—Bringing report of the discovery of a long-lost mine, Dave McQuaig and Golden Reed, reached the Schreiber camp yesterday and, after arranging for exploration supplies, immediately set out again to make a close inspection of what they term a bonanza. A veritable hill of gold-shot quartz with enormous value lies northwest of the settlement, the prospectors related to eager listeners around the camp-fire last night.

Within an hour of their departure two other parties were on their trail with the intention of staking nearby locations.

About six weeks ago one of the old time gold seekers told McQuaig of a great discovery he had made, which he was later unable to find again. That was back in the early days of the northwestern rush. Possessed of a general discription of the location, McQuaig and his companion made a search of the territory without avail. Still convinced of the truthfulness of the story they made a second tour, this time apparently with success, as they brought back samples and photographs to verify their story.

URGES PREMIER GREENFIELD TO CALL CONFERENCE

Lethbridge Herald Points Out Danger of Allowing Prolongation of Coal Strike

Lethbridge, July 14.—Declaring that the time had come when a mediator should step in to try to settle the Alberta coal strike on a temporary basis pending settlement of the United States mine wage controversy, the Herald editorially today says:

"Premier Greenfield might very well step in and call for a round-table conference of coal operators and miners. He could even suggest a basis for such a conference to work upon. Now is the time for a mediator to get to work. The bulk of the people want work in the mines resumed at once with an assurance that the miners will get a good living wage and the operators a reasonable profit from their investment. More than that will not be conceded.

"It is all very well, too, not to worry in the warm days of summer, but the weeks are not far distant when coal will be a necessity and if the strike is allowed to drag along there will be as serious a coal shortage as the west has ever experienced. Saskatchewan and Manitoba can hardly expect grain and coal to move expeditiously at the same period of the year. There will either be a congestion of grain movement or a shortage of coal. In the months prior to the harvest coal should be stored to supply the fall and winter needs. Attempting to move the coal at the same time as the grain is an impossibility. It is a wonder our western premiers have not realized this and got to work to bring down an immediate settlement of the coal strike."

Sir Auckland Geddes Has Criticism For "Lecturing" English

Toronto, July 14—A cable from London to the Mail and Empire says:

Margot Asquith is believed to be one of the persons Sir Auckland Geddes has in mind when, in addressing the Pilgrims last night, he criticized some of the British speakers who had been not only lecturing in America but lecturing Americans. He said:

"It is necessary to get British people of good will to travel in the United States not to deliver lectures to America, but rather to keep their mouths shut until they have seen America."

Unless Soviet Delegates Have New Proposals They Will Not Return to Meeting of Powers

Plenary Session is Being Planned for Next Wednesday—Maxim Litvinoff Thinks That the Breaking Off of Negotiations Was Done Too Hastily.

The Hague, July 14 (Bulletin).—No further joint meetings with the Russians will be held by the conferees on Russian affairs unless the Soviet representatives make known a desire to submit new proposals, it was decided this afternoon. The non-Russian representatives will continue their meetings and they plan to hold a plenary session to adjourn the conference, probably next Wednesday.

In commenting upon the status of the conference, Maxim Litvinoff, head of the Russian delegation, said:

"I do not wish to say that we would have reached an agreement if we had continued a few weeks longer, but we should not have packed up and broken off negotiations without further attempts.

New Instructions Given.

London, July 14.—New instructions have been forwarded by the Soviet government to Leonid Krassin, of the Russian delegation at The Hague there, says an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Copenhagen quoting advices received by way of Berlin.

Far-reaching concessions, especially respecting the state railways, are hinted at in the despatch.

Last Hope Fails.

The Hague, July 14.—The subcommission of credits of the conference on Russian affairs in which a last chance for breaking the deadlock in the conference was believed to remain, failed to reach an agreement after a three-hour session today and Russians and non-Russians alike agreed that there was apparently no chance of continuing the conference

Private Mediation Tried.

The Hague, July 14.—Private individuals made an attempt in the early hours today to mediate between the Russians and non-Russians. They informed Leonid Krassin, of the Russian delegation, that the only way a resumption of the conference could be had was for Maxim Litvinoff, head of the delegation, to announce at today's meeting of the commission on credits that he was ready to make a new statement outlining the Russian position on the restoration of foreign property or compensation where restriction was impossible.

Krassin received the communication without comment and the Russians appeared at the meeting of the credit commission this morning, but the discussions that ensued were without any apparent effect in getting the two parties to the discussion any nearer together.

It was agreed among the representatives of the powers before the meeting today that the Russians were to be informed that, as the basic negotiations over the property question had failed, it was useless to continue the discussion regarding credits, because the credits asked by the Russians were inevitably conditional upon an arrangement concerning confiscated property.

Formation of Army Council In Dublin and Reorganization General Staff Indicates Action

Military Censorship Has Been Clamped Down Tight in Irish Capital—Large Amount of Work in Clearing Irregulars Necessary Before Main Operations Begin.

London, July 14—Formation of an army council in Dublin and the re-organization of the general staff of the National army are believed to presage important movements among the insurgents in southwestern Ireland at an early date. The military censorship however, has been clamped down tightly in the Irish capital and nothing authoritative has reached London regarding plans for the campaign.

It appears that a good deal of work in clearing the irregulars from the middle and western counties may be necessary before the main operations can begin. The republicans have a strong hold on Tullamore, King's county, according to a Belfast report, having fully a thousand men there while the approaches to the town have been mined and the bridges destroyed to hamper the nationals. The latter completely encircle the town and are receiving constant reinforcements in preparation for the final attack which is expected in a few days.

Barracks Captured

Cork, July 14—Capture of the barracks at Kilmallock, county Limerick, together with the Free State garrison, arms and equipment, is claimed in a republican despatch issued at midnight. The regular republican military bulletin given out from the headquarters at Clonnel last night says the agreement covering Limerick city and the Limerick brigade area has been broken by the Free State officers who signed it and that fighting is now in progress there.

The bulletin gives the casualties thus far as 6 Free Staters killed and 5 wounded; republicans, one killed. Six of the government soldiers are declared to have deserted to the insurgents.

FIREMEN PLAY FOR INTER-CITY CUP SATURDAY

Calgary and Edmonton fire departments will tangle on Saturday for the ownership of the Bell cup in the Inter-City fire department football, the game being scheduled to take place on the Diamond park at 7 p.m. Mayor Duggan will kick off, and it is expected that a keen game will result as both teams are up to strength and full of vim. Charlie Smalles will referee the game, Edmonton F.D. being represented by Williamson, Bruce, Steel, Gauld, Price, Arnold, Robinson, Dutton, Topping, Mackay and Campbell.

Summary of The Strike Situation In The United States

The 8,000 stationary firemen and others received President Timothy Healey's strike sanction for July 17, although many are already out.

E. F. Grable, head of the maintenance of way union, expressed confidence that he could prevent a general strike of his men.

President Harding and his cabinet discussed the rail strike, particularly with reference to interference with the mails.

Governor Neff of Texas declined to call state troops to guard Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway property and Secretary of War Weeks, intimated that federal troops would be furnished if the governor stands pat.

Chairman Hooper, of the railroad labor board, continued his peace overtures with railway executives apparently with little success while the northwest carriers were still negotiating with local strike committees for a settlement.

A deputy sheriff today shot and seriously wounded one of a crowd of men attempting to prevent workers from entering the Burnside shops of the Illinois Central at Chicago.

Warning that union officials who transmit or post strike notices in Kansas for the proposed strike of stationary engineers, fireman and oilers will be prosecuted under the Industrial Court act, was announced today by Governor H. J. Allan.

Attorney-General Dougherty has ben requested to furnish 1,400 deputy marshals in the northern district of Ohio for strike duty. United States Marshal George stauffer, Cleveland, announced.

WHAT CAUSES SO MUCH SICKNESS?

Constipation Responsible for 90% of Disease

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Corrects It

It is generally recognized among the medical profession that Constipation or Insufficient Action of the Bowels, produces more disease than any other one cause. Constipation is responsible for at least 90% of the disease in the world today—because Constipation is responsible for the Indigestion and Dyspepsia—the nervousness, Insomnia and Rheumatism—the Eczema and other skin troubles—the Headaches and Backaches.

Why is this?

As you know, it is the duty of the bowels to carry off the waste matter in the system. If the bowel muscles are weak or the liver inactive, then this waste matter remains in the body and poisons the blood. As a result, every organ in the body is poisoned by this waste.

"Fruit-a-tives" has been wonderfully successful—in relieving Stomach Troubles, Nervous Troubles, Liver Troubles, Kidney Troubles, Skin Troubles and Blood Troubles, because "Fruit-a-tives" positively and emphatically relieves Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives" will always relieve Constipation, even though the trouble has been chronic for ten, fifteen and twenty years. Thousands of grateful users proclaim "Fruit-a-tives" the greatest remedy for Constipation that the world has ever known.

STRIKE THREATS BY MAINTENANCE OF WAY WORKERS

Fresh Outbursts of Violence Are Reported in Texas, Oklahoma, And Missouri

Chicago, July 14—Strike threats by maintenance of way employees overshadowed the last ten days by the shopmen's strike, broke out again today, bringing the rail strike to a new crisis as it neared the end of its second week.

Fresh outbreaks of violence occurred in Texas, Oklahoma and Missouri President Harding's determined steps to keep the mails moving, and in formal negotiations for a settlement of the shopmen's strike on seventeen roads in the northwest, were among other important developments of the last 24 hours.

Common Labor Problem

Pressure by many of his general chairmen upon E. F. Grable, president of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railway shop laborers, pushed the common labor problem to the front again. Mr. Grable's action in withholding the walkout did not please many of the organization's general chairman who passed on to their chief the persistent demands of the rank and file for concerted action.

The maintenance men's chief declared that no especial significance was attached to his midnight conference last night with B. M. Jewell, the shopmen's strike leader.

Hard to Hold Men

Mr. Grable admitted that he was with difficulty holding his men in line. Many maintenance employees who reluctantly remained at work when the shopmen walked out July 1, since have joined the strike.

The new crisis caused by the threats from the maintenance men arrived as peace moves to end the shopmen's strike has apparently slowed up materially except for conferences at St. Paul, which lent the only hopeful air to the situation.

Chairman Hooper of the Labor Board who announced formulation of new plans for ending the strike, was closely watched for his next move for peace.

Montreal Judge Has Severe Criticism for Expert Alienists

Montreal, July 14—Declaring that he would never repose any confidence in the opinion of expert alienists after what had happened in a recent case (the Delorme case), Mr. Justice Martineau refused to hear Dr. Tetreault, of Longue Pointe asylum, unless he were to give evidence on matters of fact, in the hearing here yesterday on the merits of the writ of habeas corpus issued on an allegation that Ernestine Menard, wife of Yvon Lamontagne, has been detained against her will in the asylum.

Mrs. Lamontagne who was in court almost brought proceedings to an abrupt close by declaring that she was quite content to remain in the asylum. Justice Martineau thereupon asked counsel in support of the petition whether he had not better quash the writ, but counsel replied that it was an extraordinary case and one on which it was thought advisable for the family to express an opinion in court.

His Lordship reserved judgment.

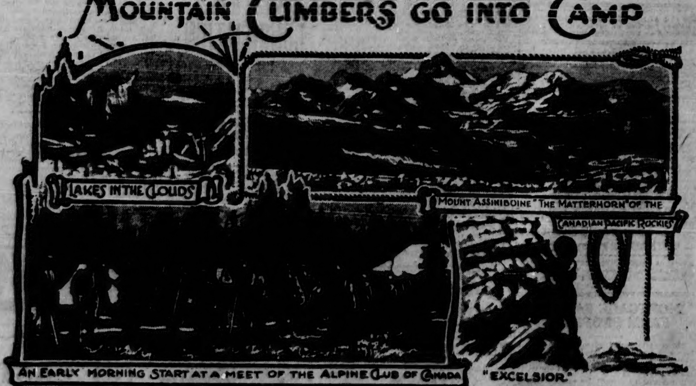
MOUNTAIN CLIMBERS GO INTO CAMP



LAKES IN THE CLOUDS
MOUNT ASSINIBOINE THE MATTERHORN OF THE CANADIAN PACIFIC ROCKIES

AN EARLY MORNING START AT A MEET OF THE ALPINE CLUB OF CANADA "EXCELSIOR."

The Alpine Club of Canada, which has done a notable work in creating an interest in Canada's great natural heritage of mountain scenery in the Canadian Rockies has selected the Palliser Pass on the Great Divide, near Mount Assiniboine for its seventeenth Annual Camp, which opens on July 29, this summer. An outlying Camp will be placed near the summit of North Kananaskis Pass, in the same group of peaks, about eight miles distant. The main camp will be forty-four miles distant from Banff, but owing to the series of walking tour camps recently established by Mr. A. O. Wheeler, of Banff, it can be comfortably reached within three days from the Alpine Club headquarters by travelling for two days to Trail Centre Camp; then one day to the summit of Palliser Pass. All outfit and supplies carried by pack ponies. Main camp will be at the summit of Palliser Pass. A subsidiary camp will be placed near the summit of North Kananaskis Pass, eight miles distant; both very beautiful locations.

The summit of Palliser Pass is 7200 feet above sea-level. Camp will be in an open Alpine meadow by the shore of Belgium Lake. The pass is dominated on one side by Mt. Sir Douglas (Haig), 11,500 ft., and on the other side by Mt. King Albert, 9,800 ft., and is very beautiful in its surroundings. A few miles southward lies the Royal Group, dominated by Mt. King George, 11,400 ft., and Mount Queen Mary, 11,100 ft., surrounded by the Royal Family of mountains. Below the Group lies the Royal Valley.

The summit of North Kananaskis Pass lies at 7,000 feet; it is the centre of the British Military Naval Group. At its summit is Lake Maude, and all around are the peaks: Mt. Beatty, Mt. Jellicoe, Mt. French, Mt. Maude, Mt. Robertson, Mt. Birdwood, and Mt. Smutz—all excellent climbs of 10,000 feet and more. Not far to the southeast is the French Military Group, from which Mt. Joffre, over 11,000 feet, rises conspicuously.

The time will be spent in climbs and explorations in this new territory, and a special two-day trip will be arranged from the main camp at Palliser Pass, via Kananaskis Pass, Haig Glacier, Haig Pass, Burstall Lakes, and Burstall Pass. At Kananaskis Pass Camp, of special interest will be Lawson Lake and Turbine Canyon. Turbine Canyon is spanned by six or more natural bridges. Haig Glacier, and its subsidiaries, the largest ice field in this southern part of the Main Ranges, is very fascinating. Its icefall and that of the Beatty Glacier come right down close to the summit of Kananaskis Pass. The pass is very beautiful, and is comprised of wide, open Alpine meadows, carpeted by pink heath and white heather, and brilliant with rare Alpine flowers.

A large attendance of both Canadian and American members is assured, and visitors from the Alpine Club (England) will be present. A phenomenal camp is in preparation, and Major E. O. Wheeler, R.E., of last year's Mt. Everest expedition, will be in charge of the mountaineering.

The Banff to Mt. Assiniboine walking and riding tour route ensures easy and comfortable transport, and will enable the visiting members to travel home via the entrancing Marvel Lake, Lake Gloria, Wonder Pass, Mt. Assiniboine, Valley of the Rocks, Golden Valley, Citadel Pass, Healy Creek and Bow River.

The walking tour route will open to the public on the 1st of July, and be in operation during July, August and September. Trips start from Eau Claire Camp every Monday and Thursday. The objective is Wonder Lodge at Mt. Assiniboine, the Matterhorn of the Canadian Rockies. It is the central point of the recently created Mt. Assiniboine Park. This tour is open to the public, and will be well patronized this summer.
